MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR.

A message was received from the Governor by Mr. Thos. H. Reynolds, the Recording Secretary, which was read by the Clerk as follows:

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, STATE OF ALABAMA, MONTGOMERY, November 9, 1880.

Gentlemen of the Senate and of the House of Representatives:

You have been summoned to the Capitol as the representatives of the people in the legislative department of the government, and have entered upon your arduous duties with a fixed purpose and strong determination to justify the confidence of your fellow-citizens in your wisdom, prudence, and patriotism. You neither lightly underrate nor unduly magnify the character and importance of the work before you. Knowing that your acts will live after you, for good or evil, and that you will be judged by them, you will carefully avoid the extremes of doing too little and of doing too much. You will neither evade nor avoid what should be done, nor attempt what should not be done. Hasty legislation is necessarily crude and imperfect, and rarely brings honor to its authors or gives satisfaction to the country. Sweeping changes in existing laws are in effect almost revolutionary; and under all ordinary circumstances it is wiser to attain desired ends by slow and cautious steps. In nothing else is it so important that what is done should be well done as in the enactment of laws, which affect vast and varied interests and can be altered or repealed only after the lapse of a considerable period of time. It will be my pleasant duty to co-operate with you, within the scope of my powers, in the labors of the session upon which you have entered.

SENATOR HOUSTON.

Since the adjournment of the last General Assembly, George Smith Houston, a Senator from Alabama in the Congress of the United States, has died. He had well and faithfully served the State and people as solicitor of a judicial circuit, member of the legislature, representative in Congress, governor, and senator. In every public trust to which he was called, he brought to the discharge of duty all the resources of a vigorous and well-balanced intellect, conscientious and laborious effort, and unquestioned fidelity and integrity. He fell at his post; and his last thought was of the country to whose service he had devoted a long and useful life.

The death of Senator Houston created a vacancy in the Senate which it became my duty to fill by temporary appointment until the next meeting of the legislature. I was greatly embarrassed by the difficulty of a choice from among the many eminent citizens whose claims were pressed upon my attention. After much and anxious consideration, I determined to appoint Hon. Luke Pryor, of Limestone county, who had been the professional associate and life-long friend of the late incumbent, who lived in the same section of the State, was identified with the same interests, had at no time sought political honors, and appeared to antagonize no strong prejudice or rival aspiration. Senator Pryor has so borne himself in the high office to which he was invited without solicitation upon his part as to win the respect of his fellow senators and attract the favorable attention of the country.

JUDGE MANNING.

On the 17th of September last, Amos Reeder Manning, one of the Associate Justices of the Supreme Court, died in the city of New York, whither he had gone for medical treatment. Judge Manning's ripe scholarship, great legal learning, judicial mind, painstaking conscientiousness, irreproachable character, and pure life, pre-eminently fitted him for the bench he adorned. Chosen to the Supreme Court in 1874, he so bore himself in that exalted position, that, notwithstanding his advancing years and increasing infirmities, he was on the 2d of August last elected for another term of six years by the unanimous vote of his fellow-citizens of the State.

To the vacancy in the Supreme Court created by this sad dispensation of Providence, I appointed Henderson M. Somerville, LL. D., of Tuscaloosa county, who at once entered upon his duties. This appointment appears to give great satisfaction to the people, and especially to the bar, of the State; and I have no doubt that Judge Somerville will fully meet the most confident expectations of those who have the highest opinion of his abilities, and prove himself entirely worthy to wear the ermine which has fallen from the shoulders of the lamented Manning upon his own.

FINANCIAL CONDITION.

The Reports of the Auditor and of the the Treasurer for the fiscal years 1878-9 and 1879-80, herewith transmitted, show financial condition of the State to be very satisfactory. Every warrent upon the Treasurer is paid in current funds upon presentation, and every debt is discharged on demand. The State has no floating liabilities, and its bonded indebtedness has been almost adjusted under the act of February 23d, 1876. The assurance of a fixed purpose on the part of the State to meet all its just obligations at maturity, has restored the public credit; and our securities are again sold in the great stock exchanges at quotations equally gratifying to our pride and satisfactory to our creditors.

While its government was controlled by its people, the faith of Alabama was above reproach or suspicion. There came, however, in its history, a day when adventurers and speculators, mainly from abroad, clothed with authority by a power from without, collected and squandered its revenue, dissipated its school fund, made traffic of its good name, destroyed its credit, and brought reproach upon it before the world. Only six years ago, my predecessor in the executive office and the legislature chosen with him, found the treasury empty, an unknown amount of unpaid warrants outstanding, and a real or alleged bonded debt of about $30,000,000, upon which a large amount of interest was past due, while the discouraged, almost despairing, people, struggling with poverty, were taxed beyond their ability to pay.

The situation was enough to appal the stoutest heart; but the new administration did not shrink from the difficulties that lay mountain-high before it. The most rigid economy was introduced into the public service in all its branches. The people, seeing that the taxes collected of them would be honestly applied, at once became more hopeful and with greater cheerfulness paid them. The public creditors, assured of the determination of the State to re-establish its credit, willingly entered upon negotiations for a re-adjustment of its indebtedness upon terms satisfactory and honorable to all parties. The settlement embodied in the act of February 23d, 1876, is being carried out in its letter and spirit, and is now well-nigh executed in all its details. The State, having reduced its expenditures and economized its resources, cleared off the outstanding Auditor's warrants, resumed payment of interest, met all its current expenses as they were incurred, and accumulated a balance in the treasury, in the meantime reducing the rate of taxation from eight mills on the dollar to seven mills.

Within the last two years, there has been further retrenchment in current expenditures, a further reduction in the rate of taxation, and a greater accumulation in the treasury, while the financial situation has been greatly bettered by the conversion of $1,000,000 of eight per cent. obligations into six per cent. bonds, lessening the interest charge more than $20,000 a year. It only remains for us to pursue with unrelenting rigor the course of economy inaugurated by Governor Houston and approved and supported by contemporaneous legislatures, and which has been the policy of the present administration, to merit the applause of people whose servants we are, and retain the good opinion of the world, which had been forfeited through no error or fault of our own.

THE TREASURY BALANCE.

It is hardly possible that the Reports of the Auditor and of the Treasurer should show exactly the same balance on any particular day. The difference should be the sum of warrants drawn by the Auditor and unpaid at the Treasury. In fact, it appears that but one warrant, for less than five dollars, drawn during the last fiscal year, remained unpaid at its close. But there is a discrepancy of about $39,000, dating back to the administrations that preceded that of Governor Houston, which, unexplained, is calculated to mislead. The Auditor reports a balance, as shown by his books, on the 30th of September last, of $314,004.84, while the Treasurer's balance, by his books and by actual count, on the same day, was $353,533.75, with but one warrant for the last year, for $4.80, outstanding. This discrepancy, amounting to $39,528.19, is accounted for by the cancellation of several warrants drawn years ago and unpaid and to be unpaid, and by other minor irregularities previous to 1874. There is exact agreement between the books and statements of the Auditor and of the Treasurer, in every particular since the beginning of the fiscal year 1874-5; and both show correctly the business transactions of the State during this period. The discrepancy between the balances shown by the reports of these officers represents no claim against the State, to be paid now or hereafter, but canceled warrants, and errors in book-keeping while the conduct of affairs was in the hands of those whose bad methods introduced confusion into every part of the administration. It is proper, therefore, to consider the financial condition and prospects of the State from the stand-point of the Treasurer's balance.

Leaving out the swamp land fund, uncurrent money, and State certificates, the available balance in the Treasury on 30th September, 1877, was $169,977.97; on the 30th September, 1878, $231,148.24; on the 30th September, 1879, $240,343.14; and on the 30th September, 1880, $286,990.14, the latter exclusive of $40,000 in State obligations, which will not be re-issued. The total Treasury balance the 30th of September last was $353,533.75, of which $40,000 was State obligations, $24,157.56 swamp land fund (nearly all Patton certificates), and $2,386.05 uncurrent money.

The Auditor estimates the receipts for the current year from all sources at $865,000, and the disbursements on all accounts $880,000. This would leave in the Treasury on the 30th September next an available balance of $271,990. The estimate of disbursements for the fiscal year 1881-2 should exclude the cost of a session of the Legislature, included in the estimates for this year, and should embrace about $85,000 for increased interest on the bonded debt. There should, therefore, be in the Treasury, in available funds, on the 30th of September, 1882, about $237,000, which will be reduced by any falling off in receipts or by any increase of expenditures.

THE DUTY OF ECONOMY.

This gratifying condition of affairs is the result of the most rigid economy in every branch of the public service; and economy, heretofore a necessity, is none the less a duty now. The money paid into the Treasury is contributed by the people for the maintenance and support of their government, "the sole object and only legitimate end" of which "is to protect" them "in the enjoyment of life, liberty and property," and which can assume no other function without usurpation and oppression, and its expenditure should be sternly limited to the attainment of this object and end. It is our boast that our government is efficiently administered at less cost than that of any other State of equal population; and this fact satisfies the people, whose burdens at best are onerous, and encourages them to the cheerful performance of their duties as tax-payers and to the diligent discharge of other obligations as members of the body politic. Tempting schemes for the development of the latent resources of the State look well on paper, as they have done before, and invite a repetition of experiments which have proved disastrous in the past; but if we are not warned from them by sad experience, we should turn a deaf ear to their fair promises, because they are not necessary to the protection of the life, liberty, and property of the citizen, and are therefore forbidden by the Constitution as beyond the proper end and object of government. Our exceptionally plain, simple, and economical system, with few heads of department, no sinecures, no pretension to splendor, and no attempt at display, with hard work for all employed in it, and with salaries reduced to the minimum and yet sufficient to command competent service, meets all the requirements of its existence, and may well serve as a model to less favored communities. We ought to be prouder of the nearness of our approximation to the attainment of the best possible government at the least possible cost than we should of a grander and more expensive establishment maintained to support the dignity of the commonwealth, which, after all, rests upon the simple virtues and ample capacity of those charged with public duties and not upon their taudry surroundings. Under this system and by its methods, Alabama has escaped the shame of bankruptcy and again taken its place in the proud sisterhood of States of untarnished honor. Under this system and by its methods, the State's recently empty treasury is refilled, its credit is re-established, its rate of taxation is reduced, its free schools are rebuilt and sustained, and the people have become contented and prosperous. Even under this system, with all its savings and economies, without an increase in the aggregate assessments for taxation, the present balance in the treasury will begin this year to disappear. Any departure from the policy of the past six years towards more lavish, or even more liberal, expenditure will necessitate a higher tax rate in the not distant future, which would be the signal for popular discontent and the precursor of political change. I earnestly appeal to you to closely adhere to the course of retrenchment and economy which was so happily inaugurated six years ago and has been so successfully prosecuted since. If increased revenues should maintain the present balance in the treasury against increasing interest payments, a further reduction of the tax rate would be much more satisfactory to our constituents, the taxpayers, than larger disbursements for the support of a more numerous and costly administration.

THE DEBT SETTLEMENT.

The adjustment of the bonded debt of the State under the provisions and requirements of the act of February 23d, 1876, is progressing satisfactorily.

Since the report of my predecessor to the last General Assembly, Class A bonds to the amount of $204,300 have been exchanged for a like amount of the old bonds provided for in section four of the above mentioned act. Class B bonds to the amount of $4,000 have been exchanged for $8,000 of what are known as the four-thousand-dollar-a-mile bonds. And Class C bonds have been issued to the amount of $331,000 in redemption of $1,730,000 of the Alabama and Chattanooga Railroad first mortgage endorsed bonds.

Class A bonds, exchanged for the old direct debt of the State, having no reference to railroads, are dated July 1, 1876, and bear interest at the rate of two per centum for five years, three per centum for the next five years, four per centum for the next ten years, and five per centum thereafter to maturity at thirty years from their date.

Class B bonds, issued to take up the four-thousand-dollar-a-mile bonds, mature at thirty years from January 1, 1876, and bear interest at the rate of five per centum.

Of Class C bonds, $1,000,000 are to be issued and distributed in such a manner as to take up the entire amount of the Alabama and Chattanooga Railroad endorsed bonds, of which there were $5,229,000—or, at the rate of about 19½ cents on the dollar. These run thirty years from their date, January 1, 1876, and bear interest at the rate of two per centum for five years, and thereafter at the rate of four per centum.

Of Class A bonds, there have been issued to this date $6,578,000; of Class B, $539,000; and of Class C, $931,000.

The records of these exchanges, in this office, show every detail of every transaction.

There are yet outstanding $332,869.50 of the old straight bonds of the State, of which perhaps not more than half will ever be presented for conversion. Of the four-thousand-dollar-a-mile bonds, there are yet out $7,000. There remain in this department $69,000 Class C bonds to take up $356,000 of the Alabama and Chattanooga Railroad endorsed bonds which have not been presented for exchange.

In the exchanges now made, all past due coupons are cut from the new bonds to the date of the exchange.

STATE OBLIGATIONS.

Under the act of February 13th, 1879, $960,000 twenty-year six per centum bonds have been sold at a net premium of one-half of one percentum, and with the proceeds $960,000 of the eight percentum State obligations have been redeemed and canceled. Forty thousand dollars of unredeemed obligations are in the treasury, and the same amount of new bonds, unsigned and unsealed, are held against them. These obligations no longer bear interest, are no longer receivable for public dues, and will not under any circumstances be re-issued. They are classed by the Treasurer and by the Auditor as unavailable funds. The redemption of the obligations lessens interest payments about $20,000 annually, and saves about $2,000 a year in the expense of paying interest. Some features of the act of February 13th, 1879, were objectionable to investors and delayed the sale of the bonds issued there under, which was finally effected on less favorable terms than might otherwise have been obtained. When it is remembered that three years ago it was found impossible to sell at par a seven per centum bond for the purpose of calling in the obligations, the recent sale of a six per centum security at a slight premium is a very gratifying evidence of the rapid appreciation of the public credit.

DEBT AND INTEREST.

The total interest bearing bonded debt of the State is now $9,008,000, on which the interest for the current year will be $244,040, and for the year 1881-2, owing to the increased rate on the A and the C bonds, $319,130. The amount of the bonded debt, and therefore of interest, will be increased from time to time by further exchanges until the settlement embodied in the act of February 23d, 1876, is complete.

// PRETENDED LIABILITIES.

Among the claims against the State which were referred to the commissioners appointed under the act of December 17th, 1874, for ascertainment, adjustment, and liquidation, were the following: Endorsed bonds of the Selma, Marion & Memphis Railroad, $765,000; of Selma & Gulf Railroad, $640,000; of the East Alabama & Cincinnati Railroad, $400,000; of the New Orleans & Selma Railroad, $320,000; of the Montgomery & Eufaula Railroad, $1,280,000; and direct bonds loaned to the Montgomery & Eufaula Railroad, $300,000—amounting, altogether, to $3,705,000, on which there was past due interest to the amount of probably $600,000. The commissioners investigated, ascertained, and adjusted all the real or alleged indebtedness of the State other than the above, which they disposed of by no affirmative action. They in no wise recognized the validity of these “pretended” obligations, and recommended to the Legislature no disposition of them. The only reference to them, other than a statement of their existence, in the report of the commissioners, is the following:

“As to the other five roads—the Montgomery & Eufaula, East Alabama & Cincinnati, Selma & Gulf, Selma, Marion, & Memphis, and New Orleans & Selma—the undersigned submit that there is litigation pending in the courts of this State and Tennessee of an important character, involving points of law that will, in all probability, very materially change the aspect of what is claimed as the liability of the State upon its endorsement of the bonds of these companies, and, we trust, may result in convincing the holders of said bonds that their true interest will be best advanced by their acceptance of a transfer of the lien of the State created, by statute, and giving to the State a full discharge from these pretended claims against it.”

In a supplemental report, dated 13th December, 1876, the commissioners say:

“We have no recommendation to submit in regard to any claim preferred against the State which is not embraced in the funding act, or in our late special report.”

In his last message to the General Assembly, Governor Houston, himself one of the debt commissioners, thus referred to these claims:

“There are some railroad companies whose bonds were endorsed by the State that have not been included in the compromise and settlement of the debt made by the commissioners. They had no negotiations with any one in regard to them. They were deeply involved in litigation. This litigation was carried on mainly by bondholders attempting to enforce conflicting claims, but it also implicated the companies to such an extent as to forbid even an examination of their condition. Moreover, no one having any right, authority or control over them appeared to represent their interests before the Commissioners. * * I am pleased to assure you that the opinion [above quoted] thus expressed by the commissions in relation to these five roads, is fast becoming a reality. With the exception of those not already sold upon the suit and at the instance of the bondholders, they are still in litigation. At the suggestion of the bondholders, they have been placed in the hands of receivers, who control, manage and operate them without reference to, and even regardless of, any right or interest which the State may be supposed to have in them. I believed at the time of the compromise, and am now satisfied that the bondholders interested in these roads were and are convinced that their interests will be most advanced by their acceptance of the property—said railroads and equipments—in full discharge of their endorsed bonds. The statutory lien of the State upon these roads was established to secure it against loss, by reason of its endorsement of the bonds of these companies. It had a right to assume that if the holders of such bonds intended to make the State liable upon its endorsement, they would not interfere with the property upon which the lien was given, but would permit it to be controlled and operated by the companies for the protection of the State and the ultimate payment of the bonds so endorsed. They have not done so. On the contrary, they have invoked the aid of the courts, have seized the property taken it out of the hands and management of the companies and placed it out of the reach of the State, except as the result of litigation on its part. In these suits, the bondholders are endeavoring to enforce the mortgages executed in their favor, which will deprive the State of the security it had provided to protect itself against loss, and without which the bonds would never have been indorsed by the State. They have in my judgment, by electing to proceed against the property upon which the State held its lien, waived any right they may have had to hold the State liable as endorser, and in this opinion I am supported by two recent decisions of our Supreme Court, which I think very strongly intimate that such is the effect of such action.”

Clearly it was the intention of the commissioners, whose acts were approved in their entirety by the Legislature, to wholly reject these claims as forming no part of the valid indebtedness of the State. This appears, not only from the foregoing, but from the fact that they constantly represented the result of their labors, embodied in the act of February 23d, 1876, as a full and complete adjustment and settlement of all matters referred to them, and always insisted that the effect of their action would be a reduction of "the volume of indebtedness of the State, including State obligations," to about $9,500,000, which could not be the case if the bonds now under consideration were still to be assumed and provided for in whole or in part. The reasons for this rejection were subsequently assigned by Governor Houston, as above quoted.

¶ Your attention is now called to these claims, because I am advised the holders of them, or at least holders of some of them, will come before you during the present session, and ask at your hands recognition of them and provision for their adjustment. In this event, it will be your duty to take steps towards their settlement, if, after investigation, you shall be convinced of their validity, or to formally and absolutely reject them if you shall not be so convinced. There should be no doubt of the attitude of the State towards them, and, until recently, it had been supposed there was none. "

THE REVENUE LAWS.

I invite your special attention to the commendations of the Auditor, whose four years' service in the revenue department has given him a practical familiarity with the operations of the laws for the assessment of values and the collection of taxes, possessed by no other. In the execution of these laws within the province of his powers, he has learned their defects, and his experience gives to his suggestions a claim to the most respectful consideration.

It is a reproach to our administration, that in the face of apparent and confessed appreciation of the value of almost every character of property, the aggregate of assessment for the purpose of taxation shows a constant falling off. If other than heroic measures will not correct this evil, you should not hesitate to make radical changes. If the county tax assessors are incapable, from the extent of their respective fields of operation or other causes, of assessing all the property of the State at an approximation to its market value, the office should be abolished, and the plan of subdividing counties into assessment districts, which has been successfully tried in Ohio, Tennessee, and other States, should be adopted.

Unequal assessment of values results in unequal taxation.

One citizen pays six and a half mills on the dollar of his property at full value, while another, by a stretch of conscience under oath, or the want of knowledge or inefficiency of the assessor, escapes with that rate on his property at one-half, and too often much less than half, of its real value. Every one who pays taxes on his property at a fair valuation has a right to demand at your hands a remedy for the unequal share of the burdens of the government which unequal assessments impose upon him. The officer and the citizen should be constrained to a full discharge of duty by pains and penalties easily inflicted.

I approve all the Auditor's recommendations, and venture to suggest another feature of our system which to me seems clumsy and unwise. As early as possible in the first month of each fiscal year, the Auditor is required to draw his warrant on the tax collector of each county for the full amount of the school fund apportioned thereto, except that resulting from the poll tax and any special tax, and it is made the duty of the collector to pay this warrant out of any State tax that may come into his possession. In the last fiscal year, the disbursements under this provision amounted to nearly $250,000, or more than one-fourth the total revenues of the State. These warrants are returned to the Auditor, who gives the collector credit for the amount, which never passes into the treasury. In this way, the State has many receivers and many disbursers of its public funds, instead of but one; and these receivers and disbursers, each under bond for the discharge of his duties, can be reached by legal proceedings, in case of default, with far more difficulty than the Treasurer, who is the proper custodian of the moneys of the State until they are needed for the payment of claims. All money collected of the people for State purposes, by taxation, should go into the treasury, and be accounted for by the Treasurer. There is to-day a large sum, in the aggregate, in the hands of county superintendents of education, none of which can be paid out until wages are earned by teachers who begin work in January, and much of which will not be paid out until the close of the scholastic year. It would be safer in the treasury; and disbursed through the Treasurer, its distribution would appear in his annual reports.

This feature in our revenue system is an anomaly. It was adopted when the condition of the treasury was such that some such plan appeared necessary to secure to the schools the appropriations made for their support. That reason no longer exists ; and the plea of convenience is more than counterbalanced by the insecurity attending the custody of funds so widely distributed in so many hands, the greater liability to error in their disbursement, and the satisfaction of having a detailed account of the disposition made of all the public revenues in the reports of a single officer.

THE EDUCATIONAL DEPARTMENT.

The preparation of the report of the Superintendent of Education for the last scholastic year has been delayed by the failure of many county superintendents to make prompt returns. So far as these returns have been received, they indicate continued steady improvement in the qualification of teachers and in the character of the schools, and a larger average attendance. The business of the educational department has been conducted with such admirable economy and marked ability that no other State has so efficient a system of free schools with no larger an expenditure. The educational fund is disbursed to the teachers at a total cost of but little more than three per centum, including the salaries of the departments and the allowances to the local superintendent for their services ; and the cost per capita for instruction is less than was ever before, or elsewhere, attained in the administration of public schools. More than one-third of the total revenues of the State, including the poll tax, goes to the maintenance of the free schools, in which equal advantages are given whites and blacks, and in which something like an equal number of the children of each race are taught from the same class books by fairly competent instructors. With an expenditure so inadequate, and yet, considering the resources of the State, so liberal, it is impossible to erect a school house in every sparsely settled neighborhood, and to furnish educational facilities to every child ; but the progress that has been made in this direction in the last six years encourages a reasonable hope of the ultimate realization of our fondest desire for free schools within easy reach of all the youth of the commonwealth.

INSANE HOSPITAL.

On the 30th of September, 1878, there remained in the Alabama Insane Hospital, at Tuskaloosa, 401 patients. In the last two years 214 patients have been admitted, and 213 have been discharged, leaving 402 under medical treatment on the 30th of September last, of whom 213 are women and 189 men. The per centage of cures on admissions was 44.50, and the per centage of deaths on the total number treated was 5.84. Of those under treatment at the date of the report, 71 were colored. The number of applications for treatment in the two years beginning October 1, 1878, was 427, of which 214 were received. In this time 142 were refused for want of room. The Hospital receipts for 1878-79, were $85,095.95, of which $68,659.50 was from the State, and the balance from paying patients, sale of stock, borrowed money, etc., and the expenditures for all purposes were $85,095.95. The receipts for 1879-80 were $84,658.07, of which $67,203.50 was from the State, and $3,288.15 was borrowed, and the expenditures, including the payment of money borrowed the previous year, were the same.

The Superintendent's Report, herewith submitted, will inform you of all the details of the management and operations of this meritorious and admirably conducted institution, for the two years previous to its date.

Ample provision for the care of its insane is one of the most imperative duties of the commonwealth. There is not ample provision for the care of the insane of Alabama. There are many insane persons in the jails of the counties, degraded and reproached, for no fault of their own, by enforced association with criminals of all degrees; and many others are with their families, where, under the most favorable circumstances, they cannot have proper attention and treatment. The Hospital is full to overflowing. Your attention cannot be given to a subject that appeals more strongly to your sympathies. You will discharge your duty in the premises, taking into consideration the obligations we are under to this unfortunate class, and the condition of the public treasury, which, in my judgment, will not warrant provision on the scale urged by the Superintendent. Perhaps temporary additional accommodations at Tuscaloosa, and less expensive improvements of other kinds that are in progress, would sufficiently meet the more pressing necessities, until the financial condition of the State will justify more extensive and permanent works. If it cannot be done otherwise, economy should be strained in other matters, to find the means of giving some further relief in this direction.

DEAF AND DUMB AND BLIND ASYLUM.

The reports of the officers of the Alabama Institution for the Deaf and Dumb and the Blind are a very gratifying exhibit of its condition and prospects. There are sixteen acres in the grounds of the Institution, on which are four separate brick buildings and three frame structures, in addition to which there is, in course of construction, a substantial brick laundry, to be completed by May 1st next. Since the last report, the new chapel and school building, 76 feet 2 inches by 42 feet 8 inches, three stories high, has been erected at a cost of $9,750.00, and has been paid for out of the savings from former appropriations. It is built of pressed brick, trimmed with Stone Mountain granite, and covered with slate. There was a balance in the hands of the Treasurer of $1,793.25 on the 30th of September last. There are 56 deaf mutes and 19 blind in the classes of the school, whose conduct and progress are entirely satisfactory. But one pupil has died in two years. A weekly newspaper, the Messenger, is owned and edited by deaf mutes, pupils of the Institution, and all the work upon it is done by pupils, who are thus taught the art of type setting. All deaf mutes in the State, and all blind children over eight years of age, are entitled to the benefits of the Institution free of charge, save that all except the indigent, bear the expense of travel from their homes, and pay for their clothing. The post-office address of deaf and dumb and of the blind children in the State is desired by the Principal of the Institution. The last General Assembly appropriated $15,000 a year for the support of this benevolent and beneficent Institution, but previously the State appropriations for its support were $18,000 a year, from which the savings were made for the valuable improvements that have been wrought. The greatest practical economy appears to have been exhibited in its management.

THE PENITENTIARY.

The Report of the Inspectors of the Penitentiary for the two years ending September 30, 1880, made in conformity to the requirements of the act of February 13, 1879, is much fuller, and therefore more satisfactory, than previous reports of the operations of that Institution. It appears that on the 30th of September, 1878, there were 654 convicts in the penitentiary, after which date 270 were received and 5 were re-captured, making a total during the two years of 929. Of these 274 were discharged, 29 were pardoned, 26 escaped, and 60 died, leaving in the prison, on the 30th of September, 1880, only 540 convicts—a decrease in two years of 114. The Report gives the name of each convict, the county from which he was sent, the offense of which he was convicted, the term for which he was sentenced, the date at which he was received, his color, nativity, and conduct, and where, and by whom he is worked.

On the 30th of September, 1878, there was due to the penitentiary, and uncollected, from contractors $17,270.81; from the United States $626.50, and from other sources $35.11, and there was in the hands of the Warden, in cash, $5,313.37—in all $23,247.79. The gross earnings of the prison for two years were $51,813.15, and the expenses for provisions, clothing, wood, medicine, and transportation of convicts, since March 1st, 1879, were $9,840.94, leaving as net earnings $41,972.21. This and the dues and cash, at the beginning of the biennial period, amounting to $65,220, is accounted for as follows: paid into the Treasury $45,000, due and uncollected from contractors $18,182.85, from the United States $309.55, from sundry sources $16, and cash in the hands of the Warden, September 30, 1880, $1,711.60.

This report, as the reports of the State officers and other State institutions, is dated on the last day of each fiscal year, and is made up to that day. Hence each report of the Inspectors shows large balances due from contractors, which, in fact, are not payable, and therefore cannot be collected, until the first day of the ensuing fiscal year—the next day. No old or insolvent claims are embraced in these balances, which are all secured, and are promptly paid as they mature, the proceeds thereof going into the cash receipts of the next business year.

Previous to the act of February 7th, 1879, the transportation of convicts from the county jails to the penitentiary had cost annually from $12,000 to $16,000, which was paid from the public Treasury. That act went into effect March 1, 1879, since which time the total cost of this service has been $328.65, which has been paid by the Warden and properly charged to expense account. Previous to the first of March, 1879, the expense per capita of conveying convicts to the penitentiary averaged about $59; since that date, the average per capita expense has been $1.70.

In 1878-9 the State paid from the treasury for transportation of convicts (previous to March 1st, 1879,) $4,739.06, and for salaries of officers of the penitentiary $8,084.98, and received into the treasury from the penitentiary $18,000.

In 1879-80 it paid from the treasury to officers of the penitentiary $7,790.40, and nothing for transporting convicts, and received into the treasury from the penitentiary $27,000. In the two years ending September 30th, 1880, the State paid on account of the penitentiary $20,814.44, and received from the penitentiary $45,000, the excess of receipts over disbursements, on this account, being $24,385.56. To this must be added to the credit of the penitentiary 18,2000, paid in convict labor on the penitentiary farm, under a contract entered into by Governor Houston, pursuant to the act of March 10, 1875. In this period, also, improvements have been made on the penitentiary buildings, of the estimated value of $2,000. These summed up fix the aggregate net profits to the State, from the penitentiary for two years, at $38,385.56. In the two years ending September 30, 1878, the State paid from the Treasury, on account of the penitentiary (including the transportation of convicts), $40,992.82, and received from the penitentiary $30,000 in cash, and $12,000 in payments on the penitentiary farm, the net profits for the biennial period being only $1,007.18, exclusive of any improvements that may have been made on the grounds or buildings in the time, which was better than had ever before been done by the State.

RAILROAD LEGISLATION.

The demand for legislation to correct alleged abuses and prevent alleged unjust discriminations and extortions, in the rates of freight and passenger tariffs on railroads in this State, is so general and pressing, that you cannot fail to give it your serious and earnest consideration. It is probable that many unreasonable complaints of railroads and railroad management are made, and that at least some of the grievances, for which redress is asked, are more imaginary than real, but there is no doubt there are abuses to correct, and discriminations to prevent. The magnitude of the interests involved, and the difficulty of adequately protecting them all without injuring any, impose upon you, in the treatment of this subject, at once a grave responsibility and an imperative duty. The Constitution of the State confers upon you the power which you are asked to exercise; and the courts of highest resort have asserted that, "unless protected by their charters," railroads "are subject to legislative control as to their rates of fare and freight."

You will determine the extent to which this control shall be exerted, and the manner in which it shall be applied. There will be, on your part, no disposition to oppress the railroads, or to impair their efficiency as common carriers. Your purpose, on the contrary, will be to protect them in the legitimate exercise of all their rights, and in the legitimate enjoyment of all their privileges, immunities and franchises. Your sole object will be to correct abuses and to prevent extortions and unjust discriminations by them; and to attain this you should not hesitate to exert all the power vested in the legislature. I am not prepared to assist you with specific recommendations, because I have not had the time and the means to give the subject matter the patient investigation and careful study which would qualify me as an adviser; but I will co-operate with you in devising, shaping, and perfecting such action as to your judgment shall appear proper and adequate.

THE PARDONING POWER.

The pardoning power is, by the constitution, vested in the Governor, subject to such rules and regulations as may be prescribed by law. Its exercise, constantly invoked, and perhaps too frequently granted, is a delicate and embarrassing duty. Even in cases where the greatest crime has been followed by a righteous verdict and a just sentence, plausible ex parte representations may be urged with much force; and citizens of the greatest respectability, unable to resist persistent personal importunity, too often become petitioners for undeserved clemency. The Governor cannot entirely ignore statements supported by names of highest character, no matter how strongly he may be inclined to respect the verdict of the jury, lest the innocent suffer, while if, through his mistaken judgment, or too ready credulity, the guilty escape, justice is wronged, and the law is robbed of its terror for the evil-doer. Acting with the best intentions, and after the greatest care and deliberation, he must sometimes err on the one side and sometimes on the other, in the one case doing irremediable wrong to the individual, or in the other inflicting irremediable injury upon society. The duty of rejecting a final appeal in a case involving life, liberty, or property, on the one hand, or on the other of releasing from a proper sentence, a justly convicted offender against the peace and dignity of the commonwealth, is too grave to be imposed upon a single person, without official and responsible advice. I commend to your consideration the propriety of creating a board of pardons, to be composed of the Attorney General of the State, and two other persons, without whose recommendation, in writing, with the reasons therefor, the governor may not remit fines or forfeitures, or grant commutations or pardons, leaving to him, with no other than existing restrictions, the power to grant reprieves. During the session there will be communicated to you the details of each case of reprieve, commutation, or pardon, granted during the last two years, with the reasons therefor.

THE HARD LABOR SYSTEM.

The laws prescribing and regulating hard labor for the county, as a punishment for crime, need revision.

As an alternative for imprisonment in the penitentiary, this system has no existence in other States. It is peculiar to Alabama, where it results in such diversity of punishment for the same offense, in different localities, that in some cases felons practically escape with a fine, and in others are punished excessively and cruelly; for a sentence to hard labor for the county is supplemented by a further conditional sentence, often for a longer period than that fixed for the crime, for the payment of costs, thus bearing hardly and unequally on the evil-doer, whose inability to pay subjects him to longer confinement and service. The penitentiary was established, and supported for years, at heavy cost to the State, for the confinement and punishment of felons; and unless, now that it has become a source of revenue, it is to be abolished, directly or indirectly, persons convicted of felonies, other than capital, should be sent to it. The growing disposition to substitute hard labor for the county for hard labor in the penitentiary, is depopulating the latter, in which the number of convicts is decreasing at the rate of more than fifty a year—the actual decrease in two years being 114. I recommend that hard labor for the county, as a means of punishment, be confined to misdemeanors.

I also recommend such changes in the laws prescribing hard labor for the county for misdemeanors as will forbid and prevent punishment for non-payment of costs. In a recent case, an offender convicted of two misdemeanors on the same day and in the same court was sentenced to three months hard labor for each offense, and, on default of payment of costs, to hard labor for an additional period of nearly three years in each case. This is an instance of unusual hardship; but many cases differing from this in degree only have been brought to my attention. Inability to pay costs is not a crime, and should not be treated as such. Reasonable costs should be paid by the county which has the service at hard labor of convicts for misdemeanors, and the State should pay reasonable costs where the sentence is to the penitentiary. Adequate punishment should be inflicted for every offence committed; but no punishment should ever be permitted for mere inability to pay what is in effect and fact whatever it may be in law, a debt to the State or to its officers.

THE MILITIA.

Our militia exists on paper only. Its organization consists of generals without commands, and a staff without duties. We have, however, two regiments, and several unattached companies, of State Troops, uniformed and armed. These are supplied with arms and accoutrements, but have no other aid from the State. They furnish their own uniforms and armories, and bear the expense of drill and encampment. They have no tents, no blankets, and no cooking utensils. They give their time freely to preparation for public usefulness, and tax themselves heavily for their own maintenance. Their officers are not exempted from payment of fees for their commissions. They are at all times subject to the order of the Governor, and always respond with alacrity to any summons from the civil authority; but there is no provision for their pay when in actual service, nor for their transportation to the scene of any riot or insurrection. They deserve well of the State, and need encouragement in the performance of their duties, and assistance in perfecting and making more efficient their organization.

CONCLUSION.

Having as fully as possible communicated to you information of the state of the government, and recommended for your consideration such measures as seem expedient or necessary for the promotion of the public interests, I invoke the blessing of God upon your deliberations, and take leave of you in the confident assurance that the sole purpose of all your acts will be the general good.

R. W. COBB, Governor.

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR.

THE STATE OF ALABAMA,

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,

Montgomery, Nov. 26, 1880.

Gentlemen of the Senate and the House of Representatives of the State of Alabama:

I herewith transmit the report of the commissioners of Mobile, made under the requirements of section sixteen of an act approved February 11, 1879, entitled "An act to vacate and annul the charter and dissolve the corporation of the city of Mobile, and to provide for the application of the assets thereof in discharge of the debts of said corporation."

The report sets forth the scheme for the adjustment and settlement of the debts of the late municipal corporation of this State, known as the mayor, aldermen and common council of the city of Mobile, which resulted from the negotiations of said commissioners with the creditors of said city.

It is accompanied with the drafts of two acts, which are made exhibits and parts of the report. They are respectively marked "Exhibits" "A" and "B." They are laid before you for consideration, and the report recommends their adoption.

Exhibit A is reported as needful and requisite to carry into effect the aforesaid scheme of adjustment and settlement. The report shows that this draft of an act has been submitted and has received the approval of the distinguished counsel selected by said creditors to determine the sufficiency of any legislative draft drawn under the direction of your commissioners to secure the execution in all its parts of the scheme of adjustment and settlement agreed to by them.

Exhibit B contemplates the passage of an act, which is supplemental in its character to an act approved February 11, 1879, entitled "An act to incorporate the port of Mobile, and to provide for the government thereof."

Its general scope is to continue in office the present officers of the port of Mobile until the first Monday of March, 1882, and to provide for triennial election of its future officers, commencing on said first Monday of March, and making the president of the board elective by the voters of said port. The report shows that this draft was prepared after, and as the result of, conferences between the commissioners of Mobile, and the officers of the port of Mobile, who have had the administration of its affairs since the 15th of March, 1879.

The settlement of the debts of municipalities created by the State is a matter of great importance to the State, and I invite your careful consideration to the matters of the report. The report contemplates that the execution of the scheme of adjustment and settlement reported, shall commence in the early part of January next, and I therefore hope your convenience may allow an early consideration of the subject.

As a member of the Montgomery delegation, to which was referred the Senate bill to create the office of solicitor for the county of Montgomery, I respectfully ask leave to submit this minority report.

By leave—

Mr. Clark, from the committee on privileges and elections, submitted the following report:

Mr. Speaker:

The committee on privileges and elections, to which was referred the resolution of Mr. Callaway of Dale, instructing said committee to inquire into the propriety of amending the present election law, and to report by bill or otherwise, and certain bills on the subject of amending the election law, have had the same under consideration, and instruct me to report that they deem it inexpedient at this time to make any change in the election laws, except in regard to the act entitled an act to amend section 274 of the Code of Alabama, approved February 12, 1879; and they have instructed the chairman to report the enclosed bill as a substitute for the bill (H. B. 208) "to amend an act to amend section 274 of the Code," approved February 12, 1879.

T. C. CLARK, Chairman.

Mr. Long submitted the following:

The undersigned, a minority of the committee to which was referred House bills numbers 15 and 16, beg leave to report that they have had said bills under consideration, and that they are compelled to dissent from the majority report of the committee. The object of these bills is to repeal the acts amending sections 274 and 276 of the Code of Alabama, approved February 9th and 12th, 1879, and to re-enact those sections.

Under the old law (section 274), "the ballot must be a plain piece of paper, on which must be written or printed, or partly written and partly printed, the names of the persons for whom the elector intends to vote, and must designate the office." This section allows the voter to use any kind of paper, according to his choice or convenience, and under it no one can be deprived of his vote by reason of the size, color, erasures or interlineations on the ballot, or even superfluous words or captions. Whereas, by the new law, "the ballot must be a plain piece of white paper, without any figures, marks, rulings, characters or embellishments thereon, not less than two nor more than two and a half inches wide, nor less than five nor more than seven inches long, on which must be written or printed, or partly written and partly printed, ONLY the names of the persons for whom the elector intends to vote, and must designate the office, &c., and any ballot otherwise than described is illegal, and must be rejected." The difference in the amended sections and the sections in the Code consists in providing certain regulations for the ballot, as that it shall conform to a certain color and size; shall have no marks, rulings, characters or embellishments thereon, save only that necessary to designate the officer chosen and the office, and that the ballot shall be rejected unless it conform to these regulations; and also the further provision that the ballot shall not be numbered to correspond with the number on the poll lists as had been the law. The ground upon which this radical change of our elective system is attempted to be sustained is, that the provisions are necessary to maintain the secrecy of the ballot; a result upon which depends the free expression of the choice of the voter. Measures intended for such a purpose only, ought to receive the approval of every one who loves republican government, but it should not be forgotten that there are other ways of defeating the free choice of the people besides that of coercion, against which the secrecy of the ballot is alone intended to guard.

In many places in our rural counties, plain white paper, without rulings, cannot be easily obtained with which to cast a legal ballot.

The regulations as to the ballot, its size, color and contents, should be simple and plain, and such as every man, lettered or unlettered, could understand and easily comply with.

The regulation as to the size of the ticket does not materially assist in protecting the secrecy of the ballot, because it is in the power of the voter to fold the ballot in such shape as he may please, and thus to defy detection as to its contents. Surely regulations as to "figures, marks, rulings, characters or embellishments" on the face of the ballot, do not aid in such protection, since it would be impossible, if the ticket is properly folded, that any one could detect such marks, figures, &c., while in transit from the voter to the ballot box.

These new requirements will compel voters to prepare themselves with tape line or rule to insure the legality of their ballots, and have the effect to abridge the easy and free exercise of the elective franchise; a right inestimable to freemen, and declared to be "a right preservative of every other right." Besides, it often happens that a voter wishes to vote for some on one ticket and others on another party ticket, or an independent candidate. Under the operations of the present election law, a name cannot be stricken and another substituted without making "marks" on the ticket. Hence, "the ballot" then would be "otherwise" than "a plain piece of white paper without marks," and, under the law, "must be rejected."

These changes in the law, while perhaps not so intended, will inure to the advantage of a wealthy and well organized party, and, under their practical application, large numbers of voters may be disfranchised by unintentional omissions or commissions, or by strained constructions of the law.

In the recent election for member of Congress from the eighth congressional district of this State, it is charged that it was decided adversely to the votes of the majority of the electors, because the figures from 1 to 8 inclusive, describing the district, were used, instead of being written, and that superfluous words and figures were on the tickets of certain electors. On the other hand, it is charged that about 300 illegal votes were cast in a certain precinct, which, if they could have been rejected, would have elected the person who received the certificate by a much larger majority.

Other instances of the pernicious working of our present election law have been publicly charged, but whether true or not, we do not know, nor is it our province to speak, more than to say, that, in our opinion, the people of the State, without regard to party, demand the repeal of the amendatory acts, and the re-enactment of the former law.

By reference to section 265 of the Code, it will be seen that the secrecy of the ballot was sufficiently guarded under the old law. Inspectors and clerks were required to swear that they would not themselves, or knowingly allow any other person to compare the number of the ballots with the number of the votes enrolled; and by section 288, after the votes are counted out, the inspectors were required to seal up the ballots and label the same, and securely seal them up with one poll list in the ballot box, which was to be kept sixty days, and in case of no contest, the ballots, without being opened, were to be destroyed.

In case of contest for illegal voting or fraud, a means was provided to purge the ballot box of illegal votes or frauds; we, therefore, see no good reason why the numbering of the ballots on the outside to correspond with the numbers on the poll list, has been dispensed with. The minority, while not unmindful of the necessity of a secret ballot, place a much higher estimate upon the purity of the ballot, purity of elections, and an honest count. We charge, not on the authors or supporters of our present election law, any intentional wrong, but think they have unwittingly magnified the secrecy of the ballot at the expense of the purity of elections.

Suppose A receives 500 votes at a certain precinct, and B receives 10 votes at the same polling place—suppose 250 of the votes cast for A are counted for B? How is this fraud to be exposed under the present law? How can the votes be properly counted to the person for whom they were cast? Clearly it can only be done by bringing into court every one who voted for A, and proving by them that they voted for A. The testimony of 10, 50 or 100 of them would do no good, because the ballots being unnumbered, their votes could be said to be among the 250 votes left in the box for A. It would take 251 witnesses to prove the first fraudulent ballot, and it would take 500 witnesses to prove the whole 250 fraudulent ballots. The less fraud, the greater number of witnesses will it take to prove it. If out of a poll of 500 votes there were only 10 fraudulent votes, it would take 491 witnesses to prove the first fraudulent ballot. In large voting counties—like Montgomery, for instance—it would be impossible to ferret out fraud, if any should ever be committed, except at great trouble and cost.

It is to be supposed that "inspectors of elections" are in the main honest, but we prefer to rely on election laws, which provide fully for the correction of errors or frauds. Our elections should rest upon some higher sanction than confidence in election managers. Their correctness should be easy of demonstration, and no system should be tolerated which renders this impossible.

These innovations upon old established usages and customs, in our opinion, invite fraud, by lessening the chances of detection, and will lead to a total disregard of the will of the people, and should our election law become general in other States, will, to some extent, Mexicanize our people. In practice, our old election law had worked well and given satisfaction to the people, and good government to the State.

We see no good reason why the election law, as it had been in force in this, and most of the States of the Union, should not be re-enacted; and therefore recommend the passage of the two bills referred to.

B. M. LONG,
D. H. SHIELDS,
W. H. BARNETT,

Minority Committee on Privileges and Elections.

Mr. Lanier also submitted the following:

To the Honorable Speaker of the House of Representatives of Alabama:

SIR—As a member of the House committee upon privileges and elections, I am forced to dissent from the conclusions of the majority of said committee upon the several propositions brought before them, upon the subject of altering or changing the general election law of this State, and their conclusions as embodied in their report brought into this House.

As a member of said committee, I likewise dissent from the views as expressed and embodied in a report made to to this House from Mr. Long, a member of said committee.

And I beg leave to submit the following minority report, from the committee on privileges and elections:

Whilst concurring in the views of a majority of the committee, that for the preservation of the secrecy of the ballot, and to protect the individual citizen in his right to cast his free, independent, and untrammelled suffrage, and that this right is one of the most inestimable privileges retained by our people, and secured to them under our Constitution; both the right to vote, and the right to the protection and immunity of secrecy of the ballot, are alike inherent in and attach to all male citizens of full of age (and not under disabilities) in this State.

I beg leave therefore to submit, that "the numbering of the tickets (ballots) to correspond with the numbers opposite the names of the electors on the poll list, is an invasion of the right of the elector to have the secrecy of his ballot maintained, and in my conception, in palpable conflict with the spirit of our Constitution, and free and independent suffrage.

I am therefore in favor of not numbering the ballot.

Upon the subjects of the length, width, marks, figures, embellishments, &c., upon the ballot, designation of persons voted for, &c., I beg leave to submit, that the ballot should be a plain piece of white paper, of convenient length and width, to receive written or printed thereon the names of the persons intended to be voted for, and the office for which such person is chosen designated; to be of such uniform size in length and width, both at general and any special election in this State, or municipal election, as will be convenient for an impression of all the names of candidates intended to be voted for, and a designation of the offices intended to be filled; and that the ballot should sufficiently show on its face the name of the person voted for, and the office intended to be filled by such person; that technical accuracy should not be essential in this particular, and that if the name of the person voted for, and the office, be so designated that no reasonable doubt can exist as to what is meant by the ballot, or what was the intent of the elector, said ballot should be held to be legal, if no other objectionable cause exists against them than such defect.

I would beg leave further to submit, that this great constitutional privilege—the highest under the government—should not be taken away on technicalities, but that the right of voting, and the exercise of this right, should be encouraged among all the people, so that all questions of public economy or public policy should be determined by the free and independent private citizen, after calmest consideration.

With the hope that this report may be favorably received and its recommendations adopted, I herewith submit, as a substitute for H. B. 208, a bill, and move that it be adopted in lieu of said bill.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

B. C. LANIER.

Also, reported a substitute for the bill—

H. B. 69. To amend an act supplemental to an act to amend the corporation laws of Alabama, approved, August 12th, 1868.

Mr Sheldon submitted a minority, report, as follows:

Mr. Speaker:

As members of the committee on corporations, to which was referred the House bill praying for an extension of the Alabama Coal and Slackwater Company, we respectfully ask leave to submit this minority report:

We cannot agree with our colleagues, that the said extension prayed for should be granted, because, while we believe that the development of the immense Warrior coal fields would be of infinite benefit to the State of Alabama, we are far from believing, after a calm and deliberate review of all the evidence which has been laid before us, and before the committee on corporations, that the way to do this is by extending the charter of the Alabama Coal and Slackwater Company.

If the Alabama Coal and Slackwater Company had fulfilled its promises and representations made by it to the State, it would not now be necessary for the said Company to ask at the hands of the State an extension of its charter.

These are the facts of this case, which cause us to differ from our brother members of the committee on corporations.

There are in the country above Tuscaloosa immense coal fields, which can be reached by water, after considerable improvements have been made in the Black Warrior river, or by short railroads from Tuscaloosa north.

In August, 1868, the Legislature of Alabama passed an act authorizing certain corporations to be formed, with power to open to navigation any river or stream not previously navigable, and giving to such corporations the private and exclusive right to navigate such streams for twenty years, and afterwards to collect tolls from all persons who might use it. The act further provided, in section six, that any corporation formed under it should cease to be a body corporate, if within two years from the filing of their proposed articles of incorporation, they should not have commenced work upon the river, and actually expended as much as 10 per centum of the capital proposed for the improvement of the river, and if within four years they should not have so expended as much as 20 per centum, and so on until as much as five hundred thousand dollars should have been expended.

The same act of the Legislature provided that such companies might also have mining privileges.

On or about May 26, 1871, certain parties filed in Tuscaloosa an application for a charter under this act, with a proposed capital of $100,000.00, to improve the Warrior river above Tuscaloosa, and stating they could, and did command as much as $100,000.00, with which to begin the work. They also applied for the privilege of mining and manufacturing, in connection with the improvement of the said navigation, and stating their proposed capital needed for these purposes at five millions of dollars. Under this application they received a certificate of charter, in the name of the Alabama Coal and Navigation Company.

Although it will thus be seen that they filed their application in May, 1871, for a charter, accompanied with a statement that they had at their command, $100,000, with which to commence operations, yet they did nothing, and on March 28, 1873, the legislature was again applied to, and renewed their charter.

Still another year passed without anything being done. It was not until November, 1875, that any movement was made. It will be remembered that then the new State constitution of 1875 was about to go into effect, and one of its provisions was that "all existing charters or grants of special or exclusive privileges, under which a bona fide organization shall not have taken place, and business been commenced in good faith, at the time of the ratification of this constitution, shall thereafter have no validity."

Shortly before this constitution became operative, viz: on or about November 5, 1875, another application for a similar charter was filed in the probate office of Tuskaloosa county, asking for a charter very similar to the previous one, but this time in the name of the Alabama Coal and Slackwater Company; and it was again declared that the applicants could and did command, for the purpose of improving the navigation of the Black Warrior River, as much as $100,000, with which to begin work. The probate judge again certified that the desired charter was granted. Still nothing was done in the way of work upon the river, but on the 18th of December, 1876, an act was passed by the legislature of the State to confirm the charter alleged to have been obtained under the proceedings in the Tuskaloosa probate court in November, 1875.

This is now nearly four years ago, and yet nothing has been accomplished, beyond some flaming newspaper announcements, at various times, of what the company was going to do.

It will thus be seen that for over nine years the Alabama Coal and Navigation Company, and the Alabama Company, and the Alabama Coal and Slackwater Company, have been holding, or claiming to hold, charters which gave them an exclusive right to open the Black Warrior coal fields, and that they had a hundred thousand dollars at their command with which to commence the work, and yet, in effect, nothing has been accomplished.

Now, when they have lost even all pretense of chartered rights, by reason of the lapse of time and their failure to comply with the requirements of the law, a new attempt is made to get the legislature again to confer upon them an exclusive privilege to do or not to do something in the way of opening the Warrior River, as may suit their purposes.

There has been no good evidence presented to the committee on corporations to lead them to believe that if an extension of this charter is made again, that the Company for whom it is made are in a position to perform what they promise, or that they are in possession, or are likely to obtain possession, of the capital necessary to carry on the great enterprise in which the whole of Alabama should be interested.

As the Alabama Coal and Slackwater Company, now applying for an extension of their charter, have offered to the committee no satisfactory evidence of their ability to develop the Warrior Coal fields, and as they have had, for many years, the paivileges of which they are now praying an extension, and yet have accomplished nothing, it is but fair and reasonable to presume that even should this legislature grant them an extension of their charter, that they would continue to do as they have, under like circumstances, done in the past, that is, absolutely nothing.

Because of the above reasons, it is clear to my mind, that such an extension should be unhesitatingly refused. What the people of Alabama desire is, that at the earliest moment practicable these Coal fields be made more accessible from the Gulf of Mexico.

Judging from the history of the past, there is no reason to expect that a renewal of this charter will be of any benefit to the public, but rather that it will be an insurmountable obstacle in the way of accomplishing the end desired. As for me, I would deem it, as a matter of judgment, a great mistake in this legislature to grant to the Alabama Coal and Slackwater Company an extension of their charter.

For it would be vastly better to trust the future to the result of private enterprise in other quarters and the hope of government aid, than any longer leave every chance of the development of the Warrior coal fields in the hands of a Company which has for years been possessed of a monopoly of the power to act, and yet has not accomplished anything in the direction in which it proposed to move.

I therefore, for the reasons above set forth, recommend that the said bill, praying for an extension of the charter of the Alabama Coal and Slackwater Company, do not be passed.

H. B. 68. To amend the charter of the Alabama Coal and Slackwater Company;

H. B. 69. To amend an act supplemental to an act to amend the corporation laws of Alabama, approved 12th August, 1868.

The House proceeded to consider the bill—

H. B. 66. To extend the charter of the Alabama Coal and Slackwater Company.

Mr. Brown of Tuscaloosa moved to amend, by way of a substitute.

Pending the consideration of the amendment, the hour of 12 M. arrived, when the bill—

H. B. 171. To establish a board of railroad commissioners for the State of Alabama, to define the powers and prescribe the duties of said board, and to provide for the payment of the expenses of the same;

Was read the third time.

Pending its consideration—

By leave, Mr. Watts submitted the following:

Report of the judiciary committee on the resolution of Mr. Brooks of Macon.

The committee on the judiciary, to which was referred the resolution introduced by the Hon. Mr. Brooks of Macon, and adopted by this House, requiring this committee "to investigate the case of Clark & Murrell vs. the Port of Mobile, rendered by the Supreme court on 9th inst., and to report whether or not said decision militates against, or is in conflict with, the bill to establish a railroad commission for this State," have had the same under consideration, and have instructed me to report:

That the decision involves the constitutionality of section 1440 of the Code of 1876. It requires, in substance, that all insurance companies of other States shall pay into the treasury of this State, for the privilege of doing business here, whatever sum is required by the laws of the particular State chartering such companies, of Alabama insurance companies to do business in such State, under any law then in existence, or which might in the future be passed by such State. Our Supreme Court holds this section of the Code to be violative of our constitution. Two reasons are assigned for this conclusion; only one of which has any application to the railroad commission bill now before this House, and that reason is that said section of the Code, in effect, is delegative of the legislative power of this State, pro hac vice, to the legislatures of other States.

The well settled principle is announced that "the power conferred upon the legislature to make laws cannot be delegated to any other body." The section of the Code (1440) is construed to mean, that the legislature of Alabama adopted, without setting them out, the laws of Mississippi (or other States), in existence at the time of its passage, but all other laws on the same subject, in the future, passed by it or other States. It is obvious, if such be the construction of the section of the Code, the opinion is certainly correct. But the principles settled by it do not affect any provision of the bill now before this House for the establishment of a board of railroad commissioners.

There is no provision of this bill which discriminates, either in favor of or against the railroads in the imposition of taxes; nor is there any delegation of the legislative powers, properly understood, to the commission board. Every power given to this board can be vindicated upon the plainest principles of constitutional law, and by the practice of Alabama from her earliest history to the present time. The decision of Clark & Murrell vs. the Port of Mobile does not, in the opinion of this committee, "militate against, or conflict with," the bill to establish a railroad commission for this State."

All of which is respectfully submitted.

THOS. H. WATTS, SR.,
Chairman.

Pending the consideration of the bill, H. B. 171, the following message was received:

Which was granted, and is as follows:

The undersigned concurs in an earnest desire to resist all invasions of the interests of the people by corporations of any kind, and stands now, as in the past, in uncompromising hostility to all subsidies of public treasure or domain, to foster railways or other enterprises of private corporations; but he believes that the present bill is a dangerous exercise of sovereign power, over private property, and private rights; that some of its provisions are of doubtful constitutionality, and that the measure, as it stands before the House, is one of very questionable expediency, particularly as it will result in checking the development of railway enterprises in this State; and he therefore votes against the bill, and begs leave to spread this explanation on the journal of the House.

W. BREWER.

Mr. Patton, in voting nay, asked that his written explanation for so doing be spread upon the journal;

Which was granted, and is as follows:

I object to the extent of the authority or powers granted to the commission, and therefore vote "no."

C. H. PATTON.

Mr. Foster of Macon, moved to re-consider the vote by which the bill was passed, and further moved to lay that motion on the table.

The latter motion prevailed.

The Journal of yesterday was read.

Mr. Betts moved to correct the Journal, by striking out all that portion after the order was made ordering the bill—

H. B. 171. To establish a board of railroad commissioners for the State of Alabama, to define the powers and prescribe the duties of said board, and to provide for the payment of the expenses of the same;

To a third reading.

The Journal was so amended, and, as amended, was approved; and,

On motion of Mr. Watts, all orders were suspended, and the bill—

H. B. 171. To establish a board of railroad commissioners for the State of Alabama, to define the powers and prescribe the duties of said board, and to provide for the payment of the expenses of the same;

Was ordered to be read at length the third time forthwith.

The bill was read the third time and passed—yeas 60, nays 22.

Yeas—Messrs. Mr. Nelson stated that on account of sickness, he was absent on Saturday ; if he had been present he should have voted in the affirmative on the passage of the bill on Saturday, and desired now to have his vote recorded in the affirmative.

Mr. McCullough stated, on the passage of the bill, that he was paired with Mr. Clark, otherwise he would have voted yea.

Mr. Austill, in voting nay, asked that his reasons, in writing, for so doing should be spread upon the Journal ;

Which are as follows :

Being of opinion that the clause in the bill, section 19, providing for the payment of the expenses of the commission, by requiring the railroads to take out license, is obnoxious to section 6, article 11 of the Constitution, and believing that the retention of such clause affects the whole bill, under section 2, article 4 of the Constitution, which says : "Each law shall contain but one subject, which shall be clearly expressed in its title," and having used my best endeavors to have such clause in the bill stricken out, I feel constrained, by my obligation to support the Constitution, to vote "No" on the passage of this bill ; which I do with much reluctance, as I am in favor of establishing a railroad commission.

H. AUSTILL.

Mr. Collier, in voting yea, asked that his reasons for so doing should be spread on the Journal, as follows :

While I believe that the sections of the bill which provide that the railroads shall pay the expenses of the commission are unconstitutional, yet believing that it is best, even with these provisions, to have the commission, I vote "I."

WM. A. COLLIER.

Leave of absence was granted to Messrs. Newman, Davidson, Wright of Lee, and Foster for to-day.

By leave, Mr. Watts made the following report:

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES,

MONTGOMERY, ALA., Feb. 17, 1881.

Mr. Speaker :

The committee on the judiciary, to which was referred the House resolution, introduced by the honorable gentleman from Dale, requiring the committee to inquire into, and report on the cause of delay in the decision of causes in the Supreme Court, have instructed me to report:

That whilst there has been delay in deciding many cases before the Supreme Court within the last six years, there have been many reasons for such delay, perfectly consistent with the efficiency and the powers of dispatch of business of the distinguished gentlemen who constitute the court.

The first cause of this seeming delay, has arisen out of the laws which required the court to decide several classes of cases as preference cases. All State cases were required to be decided at the term in which they were argued and submitted to the court, without reference to the fact that many other cases had been, in regular order, on the docket, argued and submitted. Then, again, all cases from the chancery court where demurrers to bills were either overruled or sustained; all cases where injunctions had been either granted or overruled; all motions for writs of extraordinary character, such as writs of mandamus, prohibition, or of like character, were, and are, required to be decided at the term at which they are argued and submitted; all such cases necessarily interfered with the regular order of business before the court, and thus necessarily delayed the consideration of other cases not put in the preferred classes.

On the first of January, 1875, when Judges Brickell, Manning and Judge went on the bench, under the election of November, 1874, there were then on the docket of the court, undisposed of, not less than 650 cases. Many of these cases, as many as 350, had been argued and submitted to the members of the court who occupied the bench from 1868 to November, 1874. As two of the members of the Alabama court were defeated in November, 1874, and a new bench elected, all these cases had to be re-submitted and many of them re-argued at the bar of the court. Many of these cases, as well as others submitted for two or three years after January, 1875, involved new and complicated questions growing out of the incidents and events of the recent war between the States, and their proper solution required great labor and research.

The Hon. Thos. J. Judge died in March, 1876, a little over one year after he went on the bench. For nearly a year before his death, he was in feeble health, and he could not, for this reason, perform the exacting labor the business of the court demanded. The Hon. Geo. W. Stone was appointed on the 6th of March, 1876, to fill the vacancy produced by the death of Judge Judge.

Without undertaking to enter into minute details of the arduous labors of the court since the first of January, 1875, until the death of Judge Manning, in October last, it is quite sufficient to say, that during that time, in a period of not quite six years, more than two thousand cases have been decided in which opinions have been delivered; and perhaps four or five hundred more in which no opinions have been delivered or published.

Twelve volumes of reports of decided cases, made since the first of January, 1875, have been published, and opinions more than enough to make two more volumes have been delivered.

Judge Manning's health during several months of 1879, rendered him unable to discharge his duties, and after his election last year, he had a serious attack of his former disease, rendering it impossible for him to keep up with his business, and when he died there were left undecided in his hands 193 cases.

Before his death, from time to time, to relieve Judge Manning of part of his labors, Judges Brickell and Stone had divided between themselves, one hundred and seventy-five cases, which had been assigned to Judge Manning for decision.

Since Judge Somerville went on the bench, as the successor of Judge Manning, the cases left in Judge Manning's hands have been reduced to about 150, by the joint labors of the three members of the court, besides the decision of cases constituting the current business of the court.

The amount of labor performed within the last six years by the Supreme Court has been extraordinary, and will compare favorably with any Supreme Court of any State in the Union. Notwithstanding all the causes of delay, the number of cases now before the court is comparatively so small as to create a well grounded belief that a few months more will relieve the court of the immense burden under which it has labored.

Your committee can safely report, that there is no necessity for increasing the number of the members of the court, nor for a commission to decide the delayed cases; the whole number of cases now on the docket is three hundred and seventy-eight.

The distinguished gentlemen now composing the Supreme Court of Alabama are remarkable for their powers of endurance and work. The hours of each day now devoted by them to their duties, range from twelve to fifteen. These labors are performed nearly the whole year, without intermission, taking no vacation for themselves.

How well the duties of our Supreme Court have been performed for the last six years is attested by the weight universally accorded to its decisions by the members of the bar, not only of Alabama, but throughout the United States. No higher tribute can be paid to the efficiency and fame of a judge than to say he commands the homage of the members of the legal profession. This tribute has been freely paid to the Supreme Court Bench of Alabama.

All of which is respectfully submitted, and your committee respectfully ask to be discharged from the further consideration of the resolution.

THOS. H. WATTS,
Chairman.

H. B. 514. For the relief of W. C. Donovan and others, sureties on the bond of Z. T. Clements, late tax collector of Washington county.

Messrs. Collier and Heacock submitted the following minority report:

We, the undersigned, a minority of the committee on local legislation, to whom was referred House bill No. 514, for the relief of W. C. Donovan and others, sureties of Z. T. Clements, late tax collector of Washington county, regret that we feel it incumbent upon us to dissent from the majority report of said committee upon said bill, and respectfully submit, as the reasons upon which we predicate our dissent, the following, to-wit:

That the grounds, as stated in the bill, upon which relief is asked, has not, in our opinion, been supported by proper evidence.

The proof shows that Mr. Clements disappeared in October, 1875, but no positive evidence was before the committee even tending, in our opinion, to support the fact alleged in the bill, that said Clements had been murdered, or is even at this time dead.

At the time Mr. Clements disappeared he was indebted to the State, as shown by a transcript from the office of the Auditor, in the sum of $2,608.08, of which $647.43, subject to a credit on account of any errors and insolvencies for said year, thus showing that said Clements had defaulted to the State more than a year prior to his disappearance, a default that can not be attributed to Mr. Clements' murder, even if it is admitted that said Clements was murdered.

There was no evidence before the committee that at the time of the supposed murder of Mr. Clements, that he had upon his person exceeding two hundred dollars, and if it is admitted that he had the entire amount due the State, or a large part thereof, upon his person at the time, it but adds, in our opinion, strength to the position that the sureties are not entitled to the relief sought, for if Clements had the entire amount upon his person, said moneys were held by said Clements in plain violation of his duty as an officer.

At the time of the disappearance of said Clements, collections had not begun for the tax year 1876, and consequently could not have had upon his person any considerable amount of tax moneys on hand, unless the same had been held by him for a long time, and in direct violation of the plain letter of the law.

For the reasons given, we are forced to the conclusion that the bill for relief is not well-founded, and are unable to assent to the discharge of the sureties from the liabilities they voluntarily assumed to the State, and, therefore, report adversely to the bill, and recommend that it do not pass.

WM. A. COLLIER,

J. W. HEACOCK,

W. H. ROBINSON.

On motion of Mr. Waller, its consideration was set for 11 A. M. to-morrow.

By leave—

The bill was read the third time and passed—yeas 68, nays 0.

Yeas—Messrs. And moved that its consideration be set for Tuesday at 1 P. M. Agreed to.

By leave, Mr. Brewer, from the majority of the committee on ways and means, reported adversely to the bill—

H. B. 686. To enlarge the powers of the Auditor of State and board of equalization on railroad property in this State, so as to impose upon the Auditor and board of equalization the power and duty of completing the assessment and equalization of the property of railroad companies taxable in this State, for State and county purposes, in the years 1869, 1871, 1873, 1874, under the revenue laws then of force, and under which the several railroad companies in this State escaped the payment of county taxes upon certain portions of their taxable property, and to provide methods whereby the escaped taxes due to counties in this State upon such property may now be enforced.

Mr. Brown of Russell submitted a minority report, as follows:

Mr. Speaker:

We, members of the committee on ways and means, and who have had under consideration the House bill: "To enlarge the powers and duties of the Auditor of State and board of equalization upon railroad property so as to provide for the re-assessment of railroad property and the collection of escaped taxes due to the State, or any county therein, during the years 1869, 1871, 1873, 1874," beg leave to express our dissent from the report made by the majority of the committee then voting, and express our non-concurrence in the views of those members of the committee so making the adverse report.

And we hereby beg leave to present a minority report upon the matters and things involved in said bill; and we hereby insist and urge upon the Legislative Assembly, that it would, in our opinion, be right, proper, and in the line of precedents in this and other States of this Union, to enact the remedial law sought by said bill, so as to enable the officers of this State, charged therewith, to make a complete record of the assessment and equalization of railroad property in this State which has escaped the payment of taxes either to the State, or any county thereof, by reason of the failure and neglect at the time of such State officers to make and keep a record of their action, and to deposit the same with the Auditor of State, whereby the Auditor of State could proceed to notify or certify to the county assessor the length and value of such railroad in their counties, and the proportionate value of the taxable property in their counties, &c.

2. We are of the opinion that the constitutional provisions in regard to the taxation of persons and corporations, and the interpretations given to said clauses of the constitution impart a mandate upon the General Assembly to carry out its provisions equally and justly upon the property of such corporations, or aggregation of individuals, to the same extent as upon the property of individuals, and that all enabling and curative acts necessary for the consummation of this end, should be adopted by this House, for the reason—

3. That the State and the counties in the matter of assessing and equalizing taxation upon the property of such corporations, acts by and through the officers of the State; that neglects, no misfeasances, or malfeasances, or accidents occurring to prevent the performance of this public duty, by these public servants, can, in anywise, forfeit to the State or any of its political subdivisions, the right to enforce the obligations of the citizens or corporations to the State and counties; and proper enabling remedial acts should be adopted to heal and cure the irregularities or accidental omissions.

4. The majority of the committee would especially call the attention of this House to sections 423-392, by which it will be made apparent that laws exist in this State whereby the property of individual citizens, which have escaped the assessor of taxes, or the collector of taxes, is made to respond to such escaped taxes for any number of years; but said sections of the Code, by judicial interpretation, do not apply to railroads. The purpose and object of the bill is to enact laws whereby such railroad corporations shall be placed upon the same footing, or plane of equality with the citizen upon the important question of equality of burden; wherefore, we ask the concurrence of this House in this, our minority report.

EDWARD N. BROWN,
J. M. RENFRO,
J. N. GILMORE,

Also, from a majority of said committee, reported adversely to the bill—

H. B. 251. To regulate the business of insurance in the State of Alabama.

Mr. Nelson submitted the minority report as follows:

To the House of Representatives of the General Assembly of Alabama:

The undersigned, a minority of the judiciary committee, to which committee was referred the House bill number 251, entitled "a bill to be entitled an act to regulate the business of insurance in the State of Alabama," beg leave to report a substitute for the original bill, and also, to make the following report: The insurance laws of Alabama in force from 1860 to December 31, 1868, required each company incorporated under a foreign government to deposit in the State treasury $100,000.00. (See Revised Code, page 303, § 1181.)

If now in force, that would require a deposit of $1,900,000 from the nineteen companies of that class now doing business here. That provision was repealed by the act of December 31, 1868, which required a deposit of $10,000 in State bonds from each insurance company, home and foreign. (See acts of 1868, page 590.) The act of 1868 was, by the provisions of the act of March, 1875 (incorporated in the Code of 1876, pages 441-2-3-4), repealed, and since that time no company has deposited here. Under the provisions of § 1440 of the Code, some of the companies now here should be compelled to deposit, as their States require deposits of Alabama companies.

In the existing condition of the law, it is in the power of an insurance company, not incorporated under the laws of Alabama, and doing business in this State, against which a judgment has been rendered by any court of this State, to compel the judgment creditor to abate the amount of the judgment under the penalty of incurring the expense and delay of having to sue upon the judgment in the courts of the State of the company's residence. This is, indeed, a strange condition of affairs. It places the citizens of this State at the mercy of these companies. It was made to appear to the committee, by satisfactory evidence, that recently this power had thus been exercised by one of these life insurance companies against a judgment obtained in the United States circuit court for the middle district of Alabama, at Montgomery, and afterwards affirmed in the Supreme Court of the United States, and that it had been threatened by others. One of our number has been informed by a member of this House that he knows of several unsatisfied judgments against fire insurance companies, who did business in this State since the war, when no deposit law was in force. In addition to this, we hear that hundreds of persons in this State now hold policies of life insurance companies which have failed, and these policies are worthless. One of the undersigned knows of one widow lady in his county who holds as many as three policies in foreign life companies, every one of which is now worthless. It is unsafe to leave any such power with these companies; and however rarely they may have exercised it in the past, it must be evident to all who are familiar with the history of such corporations, that they will do so in the future whenever they may regard such course as being to their interest. Immediately after this report was prepared, the press dispatches bring the intelligence of the bankruptcy of the life company above referred to, as having failed to pay the said judgment against it. A few petitions, resolutions and letters were read before the committee protesting against the passage of this bill, and these have all been duly considered by the undersigned. It appears that these petitions and resolutions have emanated chiefly from Mobile and Montgomery, and, comparatively speaking, a few corporations and persons whose interests and sympathies are intimately inter woven with these insurance companies. It further appears that the home companies of this State, who are taking part against the passage of this bill, are, in every instance, where that matter was brought to the attention of the committee, the agents themselves of these companies, organized under the laws of other States, and therefore subject to their influence. It would have been very remarkable if the general provisions of this bill had not been contested by insurance companies and their friends, but their opposition will not prevent us from doing what we believe to be our duty to the people of the State. The objecting banks are also from the same localities, and evidently under the influence of interests inter woven with these insurance companies, incorporated under the laws of other States, but doing business by agents at the few localities above named, and having the sympathy which one corporation usually has for another corporation in any contest with the people. Such petitions and resolutions, with all due respect to their authors, are easily understood, and mean but little. They indicate the promptings of these insurance companies, incorporated under the laws of other States, who are doing business in Alabama by their agents; and they further indicate the sympathy of a few friends of these insurance companies, and of their agents, in the localities named. A measure of general importance and benefit to all the people of this State, like that contemplated by this bill, ought not, in the opinion of the undersigned, to be affected by a few petitions and resolutions emanating from a few localities, and gotten up under such circumstances. Such opposition is natural and easily accounted for. Letters were also read by agents of a few of these insurance companies before the committee, threatening to withdraw from doing business in this State, in case this bill should become a law. To such threats, if carried out, the undersigned attach but little importance, and as made before the committee, none whatever. The disposition of moneyed corporations, which are themselves but creatures of the law, to get above the law, and to dominate the proceedings of legislative bodies, whether State or Federal, and to acquire immunities not given to the citizen by the law of the land, is a part of the legislative history of the country, and seems to be continually on the increase, and has been repeatedly evidenced by all the arts and appliances of coaxing and persuasion, and, when they did not succeed, by blustering.

It is more than likely that some of the endorsements found on some of these petitions and resolutions have had their origin in the fear that the passage of such a bill as this would cause these insurance companies to withdraw from business in this State; but the undersigned believe that these fears are predicated more upon the blustering threats of these companies than upon a careful knowledge and consideration of what has occurred in similar cases before. The effect of similar laws in Georgia and other States, and of the deposit law of 1868 in Alabama, satisfy the undersigned that the passage of such a bill as this will drive out but few, if any, of the strong and reputable companies, or that if any such should leave this State, their places would be promptly filled by others equally as good.

On this point the committee had before it a letter from the Comptroller General of Georgia, which is hereto attached, marked "Exhibit A," which speaks for itself. There are now, as shown by the Auditor's report, thirty-seven fire insurance companies, organized under the laws of other states, doing business by their agents in Alabama; and from the same report it appears that there is no life insurance company, incorporated under the laws of other States doing business in Alabama, while Georgia, requiring a deposit of $25,000 in bonds from every such company for the security of its policy holders, has, as appears from the report of the Comptroller General of Georgia, forty-four such fire insurance companies and thirteen life insurance companies, in the aggregate 54 per cent. more than Alabama. Another fact of marked importance is that of the thirty-seven fire companies above named, which are doing business by their agents in Alabama, twenty-seven are depositing under the Georgia law and doing business in that State. Again, twenty-two of such fire companies were engaged in business in Alabama when the deposit law of 1868 went into operation, and of that number twenty-one deposited at once under that law, and the other did so in all the subsequent deposit years. Of the thirty-seven fire companies now doing business by their agents in Alabama, sixteen deposited in this State in two or more of the years preceding 1875, and six more were here in 1875. There is some doubt as to whether 1875 was a deposit year, as the repealing act went into effect March 8, 1875, and the deposits were required to be made by the 15th of January; but during one or more of the unquestioned deposit years of 1869, 1870, 1871, 1872, 1873 and 1874 there were seventeen non-State companies depositing in Alabama, not now in this State, and in 1875 eight others.

There were, therefore, in Alabama, in these unquestioned deposit years, thirty-three foreign insurance companies, and in the doubtful year of 1875, fourteen more.

There was no lack of facilities for insurance in those years, nor were the rates of insurance higher than now. An objection made to this bill is, that if its passage should have the effect of driving away any of these companies from Alabama, it would, to that extent, diminish the revenues of the State.

It appears, from the Auditor's report, that these companies paid the State last year a revenue from licenses of $4,300, and $835.24 from tax on premiums, or a total of $5,135.24. What they paid to counties, cities and towns in which they did business during the same period, it is difficult to arrive at, but for this the undersigned believe that $13,000 would be a fair estimate.

Such revenues are of value, of course, and if driven away would be detrimental to the interest of certain cities and towns particularly, but we have no idea that any sufficient number of companies would withdraw to make such a decrease, and even if they did, the question would be, is it not to the interest of the State that all of its citizens should be protected?

The argument is made that the citizen can protect himself as easily in matters of insurance as in the purchase of his clothes or his provisions. This we deny. If it was true, why are there hundreds of men in many of the cities and counties of the State who still have the policies of life insurance companies in their possession, which policies are worth nothing whatever? It is because of the many tempting inducements held out to them by shrewd agents, and by reason of the many false representations made as to the solvency of these companies.

Printed statements of the amount of assets and the amount of capital stock paid in, whether made to the private citizen, or to the State official, are not easily verified.

In striking contrast to the amount of revenue received by this State, we find that for the fiscal year ending October 1, 1880, the State of Georgia received into its State treasury alone $13,387.43.

A further objection to the original bill was, that it would enhance the value of Alabama bonds, and that a few speculators in these bonds may thereby be benefitted. A large amount of these bonds are owned by our own citizens; they amount to, perhaps, nearly two millions of dollars.

It would seem to be a strange objection coming from these insurance companies and their agents, that this class of securities, largely owned by citizens of Alabama, should not be enhanced in value because a few speculators would also thereby be benefitted.

But the real question is, would the people of the State be benefitted? The question is not whether a few speculators in Alabama securities would at the same time be benefitted.

The Federal government requires a deposit of U. S. bonds to a large extent as security for the privilege it gives certain corporations, and it is equally true that many State governments usually in such cases require a deposit of their own bonds, and the effect in each instance is to enhance the value of these bonds.

Mississippi requires a deposit of $25,000 United States bonds; South Carolina requires $50,000 from life, and $20,000 from fire insurance companies of State bonds; Virginia requires five per cent. of capital stock, and not less than $10,000 nor more than $50,000 in State securities; Tennessee requires $20,000 in U. S. bonds; Ohio requires $100,000 deposit from companies organized by foreign governments, and Texas requires the same.

But, to meet the objection that the original bill is in the interest of speculators, we have embodied in the substitute a provision that insurance companies may, at their option, deposit U. S. bonds. This gets rid of this objection entirely.

The course of insurance companies has been such that State Legislatures, for the protection of the citizen have been compelled to meet them, first, by requiring of them security for their policy holders, and when, as in some of the States, their business continued to swell to that point that the State Comptroller or Auditor, with all of his other duties, was unable to longer give it due attention, then to establish an "Insurance Department," as an adjunct of the State government, with large inquisitorial and supervisory powers, for their control. Such has been the history of insurance in every State where they have done business on a large scale.

For these reasons, and others which we might give, were we not afraid that we might thereby make this report too lengthy, we feel constrained to dissent from the adverse report of the committee.

We have taken the trouble to collect together the above facts, and we have tried to state nothing except what we believe are facts, and to report the same to this House, because we have been requested by members of the House, with whom we have discussed this matter, to make a minority report, and embody in it our views upon this important question. We have no other interest in it than that which is common to the people of the State, and whatever their representatives may see fit to do with the subject, we will be content to know that we have brought the matter to their attention.

W. R. NELSON,
HENRY WILSON,
T. C. CLARK,
W. H. ROBINSON.

Exhibit "A."]

STATE OF GEORGIA,
COMPTROLLER GENERAL'S OFFICE,
Atlanta, Ga. Nov. 27, 1880.

Dear Sir:

I am in receipt of your favor of the 26th, asking my opinion in regard to the operations and effects in certain cases of Georgia's deposit law.

In answer to your first question, "whether the effect of that law has been to drive out of the State any reputable insurance companies," I have this to say: Several companies withdrew from the State immediately after the passage of the act referred to, and, in my opinion, this of itself was sufficient evidence of their weakness. By their withdrawal, in my judgment, the people of our State were benefitted because their places were taken by strong companies. My reply to your second question, "whether it has had the effect of diminishing the revenue to the State in the way of licenses, taxes, &c., from such companies," is, that while I believe the law has decreased temporarily in a measure the revenue to the State, I am satisfied that the policy holder has been afforded ample security and that ultimately the State's revenue will be increased, from the fact that our people will avail themselves of the advantages of first class insurance, when they would be disinclined to do so without the security afforded by the twenty-five thousand dollar deposit. I believe that the passage of the act was to give this much needed security to our people who might wish to insure their property, rather than with the view of increasing the State's revenue.

To your third question, I can say that the effect of the law has not been to increase the cost to the policy holder, as would have been naturally supposed; on the contrary, it is a fact that the rates of insurance in our State are very much lower now than they were before the act was passed.

To your fourth and last, I am forced to the opinion that upon the whole the law has worked well, and that it has been of great benefit to our people and State and that in a very short while we will have more companies doing business in the State than there were before the passage of the act, and companies too, about the solvency of which, there can be no doubt.

I have received three new companies into the State since my last report, and am satisfied others will come.

Yours, very truly,

W. A. WRIGHT,

Comp. General, State of Georgia.

MESSAGE FROM THE SENATE.

SENATE CHAMBER, Feb. 23, 1881.

Mr. Speaker :

The Senate has originated and passed the following bill, and ordered the same to the House forthwith, without engrossment:

s. 373. In execution of the power of the State of Alabama in relation to the lands granted to this State, which are within fifteen miles from, and on each side of the line of the railroad heretofore long known as the Alabama and Chattanooga railroad, by the act of Congress of June 3d, 1856, entitled "An act granting public lands in alternate sections to the State of Alabama, to aid in the construction of certain railroads in said said State," and the act of Congress of April 10th, 1869, entitled "An act to renew certain grants of land to the State of Alabama;"

s. 288. To incorporate the city of Lively, in Lee county;

s. 370. To provide for the disposition of "Alabama Reports" which now remain in the possession of the Secretary of State, after the distribution thereof as provided by law;

s. 440. For the punishment of any person who may resist or oppose the harbor-master of the Port of Mobile, or his deputy, in the execution of the duties of their office.

W. L. CLAY, Secretary.

The Senate bills just read, the titles of which are set out in the foregoing message, were severally read once, and ordered to a second reading.

Mr. Foster submitted the following :

Mr. Speaker :

The committee of conference on the disagreement of the two Houses in respect to the Senate substitute for House bill No. 171, entitled "An act to establish a board of railroad commissioners for the State of Alabama, to define the powers and prescribe the duties of said board, and to provide for the payment of the expenses of the same," have had the same under consideration, and have agreed upon the following amendments to said substitute for said bill, to-wit :

1. Amend, by changing the title of the bill so as to read as follows : "A bill to be entitled 'An act to provide for the regulation of railroad companies, and persons operating railroads in this State.'"

2. Amend, by inserting immediately after the enacting clause in said substitute, the following :

"That the main track of every railroad in this State is a public highway, over which all persons have equal rights of transportation for passengers and freights, on the payment of just compensation to the owner of the railroad for such transportation; and any person or corporation engaged in the business of transporting passengers or freights over any railroad in this State, who shall exact and receive for any such transportation more than just compensation for the services rendered, or demands more than the rates specified in any bill of lading issued by such person or corporation, or who for his or its advantage, or for the advantage of any connecting line, or of any person or locality, shall make any unjust discrimination in transportation against any individual, locality or corporation, shall be guilty of extortion; and in every case it shall be for the jury to determine, from all the evidence, whether more than just compensation was exacted and received, or whether any such discrimination in transportation which may be established by the evidence against the individual, locality or corporation, as the case may be, was made for the benefit or advantage of the person or corporation operating such railroad, or of any person or locality ; Provided, That nothing in this act shall be construed to prevent contracts for special rates for the purpose of developing any industrial enterprise, or to prevent the execution of any such contract now existing.

SEC. 2. Be it further enacted, That the party injured may recover of the person or corporation guilty of extortion, as defined in this act, twice the amount of damages sustained by the over-charge or unjust discrimination, as the case may be, and a reasonable fee for the counsel prosecuting the case, in any court having jurisdiction of the amount in any county where the person or corporation operating the railroad does business; but if it appears that the service in which the extortion was committed was done at rates or upon terms previously approved by the railroad commission hereinafter established, only actual damages, and no attorney's fee, shall be recovered.

SEC. 3. Be it further enacted, That in all suits to recover damages for extortion in respect to any transportation done at rates or upon terms not higher than those previously approved by the railroad commission, the plaintiff, if he fail in the suit, shall pay the costs, and also a reasonable attorney's fee, to the defendant for defending the cause, the amount to be determined by the court in which the case is tried, or by a jury, if demanded by either party.

SEC. 4. Be it further enacted, That any person or corporation who shall commit extortion, as defined by this act, willfully, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction, shall be fined not less than ten nor more than five hundred dollars for each offense; but no such extortion shall be deemed willful, unless committed by a person or corporation which has failed or refused to submit his or its tariff of charges to the railroad commission hereinafter established, or having so submitted the same, has refused to conform such tariff to the requirements of the commission.

SEC. 5. Be it further enacted, That in all suits or proceedings under this statute, the defendant may give in evidence the fact that the rates or terms in respect to which extortion is alleged had been previously approved by the railroad commission hereinafter established, and such approval shall be prima facie evidence that such rates or terms were not extortionate.

SEC. 6. Be it further enacted, That no rates or charges for services in the transportation of freight over any railroad shall be held or considered extortionate or excessive in any proceeding under this act, if it appears from the evidence that the net earnings of such railroad for transporting freights, if done without unjust discrimination on the basis of such rate or charge, together with the net earnings from its passenger and other traffic, would not amount to more than a fair and just return on the value of such railroad, its appurtenances and equipments.

SEC. 7. Be it further enacted, That all actions to recover damages under this act shall be commenced within ninety days after the cause of action accrued.

SEC. 8. Be it further enacted, That the foregoing sections of this act shall not take effect until after the first day of June, 1881.

SEC. 9. Be it further enacted, That it shall be the duty of all persons or corporations in this State who shall own or operate any railroad therein to publish by posting, at all the depots, the tariffs of rates for transporting freight, showing the rates for each class, including general and special rates; and it shall be unlawful for such person or corporation to make any reduction or rebate from such tariff in favor of any person or corporation which shall not be made in favor all other persons or corporations by a change in such published rates; but special rates may be given to any person or corporation to aid him or it in developing any industrial enterprise; but such special rates must be published, as the general rates are.

SEC. 10. Be it further enacted, That any person or corporation who shall make any reduction or rebate prohibited by the preceding section, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction shall be fined not less than ten nor more five hundred dollars.

SEC. 11. Be it further enacted, That any person who knowingly receives the benefit of any such reduction or rebate shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction shall be fined not less than ten nor more than five hundred dollars.

SEC. 12. Be it further enacted, That this act shall not prevent any railroad company from transporting freight free of charge.

3. Amend said substitute, as reported to the House, by striking out sections therein numbered 1, 2, and 3.

And by inserting in lieu thereof the following:

SEC. —. Be it further enacted, That a commission is hereby established, consisting of a president and two associate commissioners, to be known as the railroad commissioners of Alabama. It shall be the duty of the Governor to nominate and send to the Senate the names of three competent persons for the office of president, and of six competent persons for the offices of associate commissioners, and the Senate shall select by a majority vote, from the persons thus nominated for said offices respectively, the president and two associate commissioners; but the Senate may reject all the persons nominated for the offices of president and associate commissioners respectively, and in case of the rejection of all the persons nominated for president, it shall be the duty of the Governor to nominate three other persons for that office from whom the Senate shall select a president; and in case the Senate refuses to select from the persons nominated for the office of associate commissioner, either or both of the associate commissioners, the Governor shall nominate three other persons for each of said offices, not filled from those first nominated, and from the persons thus nominated the Senate shall make the selection; and such rejections and re-nominations may be made until all the offices have been filled.

Sec. — Be it further enacted, That said railroad commissioners shall be State officers, and before entering on their duties, shall take the oath of office prescribed for other State officers, and may be impeached and removed from office by the Supreme Court, for the same causes, and in the same manner as other State officers; they shall hold office for two years, and until their successors, respectively, are duly elected or appointed and qualified, and any vacancy shall be filled by the Governor; the person so appointed shall hold office until his successor is duly appointed, confirmed and qualified as above provided. No person in the employ of any railroad corporation or other person owning or operating a railroad in this State, or owning any stock in any railroad corporation, shall be nominated by the Governor as a member of such commission; and any commissioner who shall accept any gift, gratuity, emolument, or employment from any person or corporation owning or operating a railroad in this State during his continuance in office, except a permit for himself to pass over the railroad of such person or corporation, shall forfeit his office, and may be impeached and removed from office for that cause, as well as for any of the causes specified by law for the impeachment or removal from office of other State officers.

4. Amend said substitute, by striking out the section therein numbered 6, and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

SEC. — Be it further enacted, That said commission shall have an office at the Capitol, and shall meet there on the first Monday in every month, except September, and shall remain in session until all business before them is disposed of; and shall hold other sessions, and at such times and places as may be necessary for the proper discharge of their duties, or as the convenience of parties, in the judgment of the commission, may require. The president of the commission shall receive a salary of thirty-five hundred dollars, and the associate commissioners shall each receive a salary of three thousand dollars per annum, to be paid as the salaries of other State officers; and the commissioners may employ a clerk at a salary, not exceeding fifteen hundred dollars per annum, to be paid in like manner. It shall be the duty of the commission to keep a record of all its proceedings, which shall be open at all times to the inspection of the public.

5. Amend, by an additional section, as follows:

SEC. — Be it further enacted, That for the payment of the salaries of the officers and all other expenditures herein provided for, the sum of twelve thousand and five hundred dollars per annum, for two years, or so much thereof as shall be necessary, is hereby appropriated out of any money in the State treasury, not otherwise appropriated;

Pending its consideration, the following message was received :

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, Feb. 24, 1881.

Mr. Speaker :

I am directed by His Excellency the Governor, to communicate to the House of Representatives a message in writing.

Very respectfully,

THOS. H. REYNOLDS,

Recording Secretary.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,

MONTGOMERY, ALA., Feb. 24, 1881.

To the House of Representatives :

Under a sense of imperative duty, I return to the House of Representatives in which it originated, the bill to be entitled "An act to protect the farmers of this State in the purchase of commercial fertilizers," with my objections thereto.

This bill was suggested by the authorities of the agricultural and mechanical college, for the purpose of increasing the facilities and enlarging the sphere of usefulness of the college, by the establishment of "a complete experimental farm, and other appliances of instruction, which would not only make it in all respects a first class institution of learning, but the source of incalculable benefit to the agriculture of the State;" The trustees of the college, in their last report, proposed the attainment of this end by "a trifling tax upon the commercial fertilizers sold in the State," which would "not add a cent to the cost of the fertilizers themselves." They ask for the establishment of "a system of inspection of commercial fertilizers," through the agency of the college, to which the revenues derived therefrom should be given, to enable it "to put itself upon a footing with the very best institutions in the Union." The bill establishes "a system of inspection," provided for an analysis of fertilizers manufactured without the State, and for sale within the State, by the professor of chemistry of the college, and makes the treasurer of the college the collector of the tax it imposes, for the use and benefit of the college.

The protective principle underlying this bill assumes the incapacity of the people for the ordinary business affairs of life, and the consequent necessity for extending over them the guardianship of the government. This theory is as applicable to all business transactions as to any one transaction, and provision might be made for the inspection of sugar, molasses, butter, medicines, seeds, and almost every other article of daily consumption or use, with as much reason as for the inspection of fertilizers, and indeed, with more reason, for many of these articles known to be generally and injuriously adulterated, are of universal and necessary use. One step in this direction opens up an illimitable field of legislative interference, and prepares the way for innumerable inspections and commissions, with accompanying fees and impositions. The farmer may as well be trusted to buy commercial fertilizers upon his own judgment, and the good faith of the dealer, as to buy in that way other commodities of greater value, and of more importance in domestic economy. Commercial fertilizers, however useful and profitable under some circumstances, are not indispensable to agricultural success. No one is compelled to buy them, and those who do buy them, do so upon their own experience, or observation of the results of their use, and buy what they please and from whom they please, in open market, upon such terms and conditions as they see proper to stipulate, and under such guarantees as they think it wise to exact. The use of commercial fertilizers is largely experimental, and will in a great degree always remain so. Not one in one hundred of those who use them knows, or cares to know, anything of the alleged percentage of ammonia, or of phosphoric acid, or of potash in them, but uses them because he has seen them used, or heard of their being used, with advantage and profit. This bill requires the dealer in commercial fertilizers manufactured within the State, to attach to each package he sells a guarantee, which the buyer is expected to take and preserve for use in a possible contingency, and in return exacts, directly from the dealer, eventually from the purchaser, a specific tax, which does not go into the public treasury and is not applied to public uses.

The farmers of the State have not asked the protection the bill promises, and are not conscious they need it. It is a delusion to assure them that the price of this protection will not fall upon them. "Taxes levied on commodities before they reach the consumer," says Cooley in his great work on taxation, "are paid by those upon whom they ultimately fall, not as taxes, but as part of the market price of the commodity." One chief reason for resorting to this method of taxation is, in the language of another eminent author, quoted by Cooley, "to pluck the goose without making it cry out, since those who pay, do not perceive, or at least do not reflect, that a part of what they pay as price is really paid as a tax." It is unreasonable to suppose that the dealers in Alabama in commercial fertilizers manufactured without the State will of themselves assume a burden of from $25,000 to $50,000 a year and not re-distribute it among their customers for whose benefit it is ostensibly imposed.

It is obvious, the bill invites the State Agricultural and Mechanical College into new relations with the public, and charges it with duties, and clothes it with power it does not possess under its charter or existing legislation. It is equally apparent that much of the duty and power is not germane, but foreign, to the objects and purposes for which the institution was created. The purpose of this enlargement of the sphere of power and duty of the institution is avowed in the bill—the protection of the farmers of the State in the purchase of commercial fertilizers. The protection is to be afforded through the agency and instrumentality of the college, and of its officers, deriving their appointment and holding office at the will and pleasure of its governing body. Unless the college assumes the duties and powers which are imposed and conferred by the bill, all the purposes of the bill must fail. And it is manifest these duties and powers will not be performed and exercised so beneficially to the public as is intended by the bill, unless the college has, and continues to have, particular officers—a professor of chemistry and a professor of agriculture—whose tenure of office depends wholly on the necessities and exigencies of the institution. It is through the agency and instrumentality of the college, evidence is to be furnished of the guaranty which must be made—which the bill compels as an element of every contract of sale of a commercial fertilizer not manufactured in this State. Into this guaranty, with or without their consent, and even though they are unwilling to enter into it, the bill forces purchaser and seller. All sales without it are forbidden, and the evidence of it can not be obtained without the action of the college. The college, its treasurer, its professor of chemistry, and its professor of agriculture, are, by the bill, inducted into public office, and impressed with new relations to the public. Whenever duty and power are imposed and conferred on a person, natural or artificial, which concerns the public, and which the public have a right to require shall be exercised, a public office is created; and when the duty and authority are assumed, there is a public officer. I do not dwell upon the expediency of introducing the college and its professors into the channels of trade, and bringing them in contact and conflict with the interests of necessity entering into it, nor shall I inquire whether the usefulness of the institution, which it is to the highest interest of the State to foster and promote may not be impaired.

I can not read the bill, nor can I think it capable of careful reading, without the conviction that its great controlling purpose is the examination and inspection, by the officers of the college, of all commercial fertilizers not manufactured in this State, which are here exposed for sale. The purpose may not in these words be expressed, but it is expressed in others of not less import and meaning. There can be no sale of such fertilizer unless a sample thereof has been delivered to the authorities of the college; and each package or brand, is accompanied with a tag bearing the fac simile of the signature of the treasurer. The tag bears no other word than "guaranteed," and that means that the guaranty of the statute attends the sale of the package or parcel to which it is attached. The tag can not be obtained until after a delivery to the authorities of the college, a sample of not less than fifty pounds. This sample, the eighth section requires the professor of chemistry to subject to analysis, and the professor of agriculture to soil test, and publication of the result is to be made for the benefit of the farmers of the State. The primary and only legitimate object of every law which is intended to operate as an inspection law, which is known and distinguished by that name, is the protection of the public health against the introduction or sale of unwholesome or unmarketable provisions or merchandize, or the promotion of the public welfare by the prevention of the sale or introduction of merchandize of frequent and necessary use, inferior or worthless in character, which an unscrupulous seller may easily impose upon purchasers. The purpose may be accomplished by prohibiting sales until such provisions or merchandize have undergone inspection by some public officer appointed to the duty, and has been by him pronounced marketable. Or, it may be deemed best not to resort to a measure so stringent, and the seller may be simply required to furnish a sample of the merchandize for examination by a public officer, who shall inquire into its quality and make public the result of his inquiry, thereby encouraging and facilitating the sale of such as he pronounces suitable for the purpose for which it is designed, and embarrassing if not defeating the sale of such as he pronounces unfit and unmerchantable. In this respect, the matter rests wholly in the direction and wisdom of the legislature, and there can be no reasonable apprehension that it will not judiciously and discreetly determine where the one or the other mode is best adapted to meet the wants of the community. It is not the manner in which the statute may be framed—it is not the severity or the mildness of its provisions—which is a test of its character, of the ends it will accomplish, or of the spirit and policy in which it is framed. There can be no sound, just, fair and reasonable construction or interpretation that does not look into the operation and effect, and the purpose it is designed to accomplish. These, at last, fix the character of the law, and by these, and not by the mere words in which it is couched, must it be ascertained whether it is in violation of the constitution, State or Federal.

The 38th section of the 4th article of the constitution of the State provides: "No State office shall be continued or created for the inspection or measuring of any merchandise, manufacture or commodity; but any county or municipality may appoint such officers, when authorized by law." No previous constitution of the State contained any such provision, and inspection laws had been of frequent enactment. The constitution does not forbid the enactment of such laws, but it does forbid the continuance or creation of a State officer for the execution of such law, and remits wholly and exclusively the appointment of such officers to the several counties or to the municipalities of the State, when authorized by law. The power of appointment is intended, and is thus made a part of the internal and local government of the political subdivisions of the State, because, doubtless it was believed it would be thereby exercised more beneficially than if the power resided in the government of the State, and the inspector was a State officer. This bill contravenes the letter and spirit of this clause of the constitution. It assumes the regulation of the sale of commercial fertilizers throughout the entire State, without reference to the necessities and convenience of particular localities, through examination, inspection, and testing—just the mischief, as the constitution regards it which was intended to be avoided and prohibited; and now that the use of commercial fertilizers has become so general, and has grown to be regarded as almost a necessity to the farmer and planter, subjects them to this burden from which all other commodities are free. That in all parts of the State not readily accessible to the college, the sale of these fertilizers will be materially affected, and the cost thereof to the consumer increased because of the restrictions imposed on the sales, is certain. This would be avoided if the constitution were observed, and the duties imposed on the college were imposed on local officers convenient and accessible to the seller wherever he proposed to make sale, and to the buyer wherever he proposed to purchase.

The seller is forced by the bill to contribute to the college not less than fifty pounds of every fertilizer he may offer to sell, and in addition to pay to the college for tags not less than twenty-five cents for each ton thereof. It is immaterial what may be the purpose and object of this imposition and burden, or whether it is strictly a tax or an excise duty. Nor is it all material whether the imposition falls within the exercise of the taxing power, the police power, or the power of eminent domain of the State. The fact remains, that it is a forced contribution from the seller, and a burden imposed on the sale of these commodities, and which must eventually fall on the consumer, and the further fact remains, that it enures directly and immediately to the benefit of the college. Nor is it matter of doubt that the profit the college is expected to derive from the contribution and burden is the motive and consideration for introducing it into the bill and charging it with the powers and duties which are specified.

No power of the government—neither the taxing power, police power, nor power of eminent domain—can, or ought to be exercised directly and immediately for the benefit or profit of individuals or of corporations. Taxation, imposition, or charge, by law levied or imposed on property or person, or on trade, commerce or industry, for the benefit and profit of individuals or corporations, directly and immediately, however meritorious they may be, is inconsistent with the genius and spirit of our constitution and of republican government. It ought to be resisted, no matter in what form it may come, or what the shape it may assume. So far as this bill takes from the seller or manufacturer fifty pounds of a fertilizer, changing the ownership in it, transferring it to the college, it is no more nor less than confiscation for the benefit of the college. If fifty pounds may thus be taken and appropriated, why not one hundred pounds, or a larger quantity? What limitation is there on the power of thus taking and appropriating, other than the legislative will and discretion? A succeeding legislature, astonished at the moderation of its predecessor, may require a ton to be furnished. It is enough to say, that it is not within the grant of legislative power, broad and comprehensive as the grant is, thus to deprive one man of his property and transfer it to another. The present constitution in express terms declares that “the right of eminent domain shall not be so construed as to allow taxation or forced subscriptions for the benefit of railroads or any other kind of corporation other than municipal, or for the benefit of any individual or association.” This bill, so far as it exacts this contribution from the seller, and imposes the charge for the tags, is, in my judgment, a direct infringement and violation of this clause of the constitution; and in the absence of the clause, is not within the grant of legislative power.

The bill does not apply to fertilizers manufactured in this State—certainly not to fertilizers manufactured in the State of any mineral or material produced or found in the State. Whether a sound public policy sanctions such a discrimination in favor of the manufactures of the State, and against the manufactures of other States, may well be doubted. But it cannot be doubted that the discrimination is violative of the Federal constitution. No State can, by its legislation, discriminate against the products, the manufactures or the merchandise of other States, because of their foreign origin. It cannot impose upon their introduction or sale any burden or duty, in the shape of a tax or otherwise, not imposed upon its own products, manufactures or merchandise of like kinds. All such impositions are an invasion of the power of Congress to regulate commerce among the several States, and of the guaranty that the citizens of each State shall be entitled to all privileges and immunities of citizens in the several States. The manufacturer or seller of a fertilizer, residing within this State, and employing in its composition materials produced in the State is exempt, and his fertilizer is free from all the exactions and burdens this bill imposes. The manufacturer residing in a sister State, employing like products of that State in the composition of a like fertilizer, is subject to all its duties and burdens. The reason and cause for the discrimination is the place of the origin of the products and of the residence of the manufacturer. Against all such discriminating legislation by other States, Alabama and her products, manufactures, merchandise, and citizens are protected by the Federal constitution, and while affording to Alabama protection, it also affords it to other States from like hostile legislation.

R. W. COBB, Governor.

On motion of Mr. Watts, it was ordered that the message lie on the table for the present.

The House proceeded to the consideration of the report of the committee of conference on the disagreement of the two Houses upon the bill—

H. B. 171. To establish a board of railroad commissioners for the State of Alabama, &c.

Mr. Lane moved that the matter before the House be suspended, for the purpose of considering the reports on the election law.

Mr. Foster made the point of order, that the report of the committee of conference had precedence over all other business, and that the motion could not be entertained while it was pending.

The Speaker ruled that the point of order was well taken.

Mr. Lane appealed from the decision of the chair.

The decision was sustained.

Pending the consideration of the report, the hour of 2 p. m. arrived, when the House took a recess until 3½ p. m.

EVENING SESSION.

FEBRUARY 24, 1881.

The House re-assembled pursuant to adjournment, at 3½ P. M.;

And resumed the consideration of the report of the committee of conference, upon the bill—

H. B. 171. To establish a board of railroad commissioners for the State of Alabama, &c.

And refused to concur in said report—yeas 46, nays 47.

Yeas—Messrs. Speaker, Bankhead, Barnett, Bradford, Brooks of Macon, Brown of Tuskaloosa, Brown of Russell, Bruce, Caffee, Cowart, Clark, Davidson, Donoho, Foster, Gilmore, Glover, Grayson, Hammond, Harris, Heacock, Johnson of Autauga, Johnson of Blount, Langdon, Lary, Maddox, Milner, McCullough, Nelson, Nettles, Nowlin, Patton, Pound, Powell, Renfro, Robinson of Jackson, Sanders, Sheldon, Smith, Taylor, Thomas, Vaught, Walker of Marengo, Watts, White, Wilson of Chambers, Wright of Russell.

Nays—Messrs. Austill, Agnew, Avery, Beard, Beck, Bowdon, Bulger, Brassfield, Brewer, Brooks of Covington, Calloway, Camp, Collier, Cunningham, Dement, Floyd, Head, Hogue, Kent, Kirkland, Lane, Lanier, Long, Martin, Mason, Morrisette, Newman, Newsom, Nolen, Owens, Pickens, Price, Ramsay, Robinson of Conecuh, Sowell, Sharit, Shields, Skeggs, Slaughter, Tyson, Underwood, Waller, Walker of Montgomery, Welborn, Wimberly, Wright of Butler, Wright of Lee.

Mr. Austill asked and obtained leave to have spread upon the Journal his reasons for voting no, as follows :

Believing that the section of the bill providing for raising money to defray the expenses of the commission, by taxing the income of the railroads, is unconstitutional, in that it is obnoxious to section 6, article 11, of the constitution ;

And believing that said section provides for raising revenue for the State, an entirely different object from the main purpose of the bill, thereby introducing two objects in one bill, in contravention of section 2, article 4, of the constitution, I feel constrained to vote no.

I vote in the negative with reluctance, as I am in favor of the establishment of a railroad commission.

H. AUSTILL.

Mr. Nelson asked and obtained leave to have the following explanation of his vote spread upon the Journal :

In voting for this bill I wish to say, that it has to me some very objectionable features. I doubt very much whether the people will derive much, if any, benefit from it whatever; I incline to think parts of the bill are impracticable; I think section 6 of the report of the conference committee particularly objectionable.

I also have doubts as to the justice or legality of section 7 of the Senate substitute bill, but I believe that portion of the bill to be more just to the railroads than the provisions of the House bill, in regard to taxing the railroads to pay the expenses of the commission. Notwithstanding these doubts, I yield them, in deference to the conclusions of the committee of conference. I am willing to try this measure as the best that can be obtained under the circumstances, trusting to the good sense of the people, through their future representatives, to remedy whatever may be found defective.

The Clerk was instructed to notify the Senate of the action of the House upon the report.

Mr. Nelson moved that the House ask for the raising of a second committee of conference, consisting of five members on the part of the House, and such members as may be named by the Senate, to take into consideration the disagreement of the two Houses upon the bill—

H. B. 171. To establish a board of railroad commissioners, &c. Agreed to.

Committee on part of the House, Messrs. Nelson, Price, Walker of Montgomery, Lane and Bankhead.

I am in favor of a strong commission with arbitrary power. Messrs. Price, Waller, Bowdon, Walker, Skeggs and Owens, asked leave to file the following protest :

We protest against adopting the report of the committee of conference, and against the passage of the bill recommended by the committee, for the reason that we regard the 5th and 6th sections of the bill, which are hereto attached, wholly in the interest and for the benefit of the railroads, and against the right and interest of the people.

T. H. PRICE,
C. E. WALLER,
S. E. BOWDON,
H. T. WALKER,
W. E. SKEGGS.
J. J. OWENS.

SECTION 5. Be it further enacted, That in all suits or proceedings under this statute, the defendant may give in evidence the fact that the rates or terms, in respect to which extortion is alleged, had been previously approved by the railroad commission hereinafter established, and such approval shall be prima facie evidence that such rates or terms were not extortionate.

SEC. 6. Be it further enacted, That no rates, or charge for services, in the transportation of freight over any railroad, shall be held or considered extortionate, or excessive, in any proceeding under this act, if it appears from the evidence that the net earnings of such railroad for transporting freights, if done without unjust discrimination, on the basis of such rate or charge, together with the net earnings from its passenger and other traffic, would not amount to more than a fair and just return on the value of such railroad, its appurtenances and equipments.

Mr. Hammond submitted the following:

This bill is not such as I wished in all its features, but believing the people expect and require of this legislature the creation of a commission, and as it is now too late to pass any other, unless an extra session be called, I therefore vote aye, and trust to future legislation to correct its errors and defects.

J. D. HAMMOND.

The House next proceeded to consider the special order, viz: the reports of the majority and minority of committee on privileges and elections upon certain amendments to the election law.

Mr. Skeggs moved to lay the majority and minority reports on the table.

Mr. Cunningham asked leave to have the following spread upon the journal :

I believe in justice, fairness and right, and think that the report should be voted upon, in consideration of its merits alone, and not from policy; therefore, no.

R. M. CUNNINGHAM.

The speaker ruled, that the motion only carried on the table the majority report, and also the report of Messrs. Long, Shields and Barnett; and that the question before the House was, the report of Mr. Lanier, and substitute reported by him.

Mr. White moved to lay the report and substitute on the table.

Carried—yeas 50, nays 37.

Mr. Lanier submitted the following :

We, the undersigned, respectfully dissent from the majority report upon Senate bill No. 85 ;

And submit this minority report in favor of said bill, as amended by the committee on corporations, for the following reasons :

This bill had passed the Senate, and was pending in this House, before this body acted upon the bill, extending the charter of the Tuskaloosa Coal and Slackwater Company. The House bill is now pending in the Senate. The Senate bill having been amended by the committee on corporations, would, if acted upon favorably by the House, have to be returned to the Senate, and that body having both bills before it, could pass one or the other, as that body might deem best.

If the House declines to pass the Senate bill, because the House bill upon the same subject is pending in the Senate, or it is reasonable to suppose the Senate, for the same reason, will decline to pass the House bill, and both bills will fail.

Respectfully submitted,

H. AUSTILL,

Mr. Slaughter asked to have the following spread on the Journal:

The undersigned votes "aye," for the purpose of permitting necessary amendments to the present school law, to render it more efficient.

But enters a protest against the manner of paying the teachers and distributing the public fund according to the per capita plan of the present system, for the following reasons:

1. It is unsuited to our agricultural population.
2. The fund is so small that, of itself, it can not run the public schools but two months, and must depend upon the people to conduct the schools longer. This conflict between interests proves injurious to schools and education.
3. It encourages short schools, and interrupts those desiring longer schools.
4. There is no certain guide in the distribution of the public fund. It depends upon guessing and contingency.
5. It does injustice to the teacher in the unequal distribution of the public fund.
6. It does injustice to the people, as the teacher pockets money he does not earn.
7. By its general operations it is proving disastrous to education in the country districts.
8. It is lowering the standard of education in country districts.
9. It is driving all academies from country districts, and forcing the people, who desire anything beyond a primary education, to the expense of sending their children to towns and cities, or abandoning their farms and moving to the same points for the purpose of educating them.
10. The statistics for the last two years show that, under the most favorable auspices, there has been a decline in the public schools in the State, and this has been produced by the present system of paying teachers.

11. This system is the last relic of radicalism imposed upon the people in 1868, without their consent, and is as unsuited to the genius of our people as the constitution and the government imposed upon us by the same party were to the general interests of the people, and it is proving disastrous to the educational interests of the State, and it should be struck from the statute book of Alabama.

JNO. W. SLAUGHTER.

From the ex parte statement of memorialists, your committee are of opinion, and so report, that the General Assembly have no right to enact any laws for the relief of memorialists in regard to the matters complained of, but they recommend that the courts of the country are the proper tribunals to adjudicate the same, and grant the relief asked for. The minority of the committee, to which were referred the petitions of Perry L. Harrison of the county of Madison, Winfield S. Bird of the county of Greene, and Charles W. Buckley of the county of Montgomery, each alleging that they were fairly and honestly elected probate judge for their respective counties, at the election held on the 2d day of August last, beg leave to report:

That on account of the serious charges contained in said petitions, an investigation should be made by the General Assembly of Alabama, with the view of punishing persons guilty of election frauds, if any were perpetrated at said election, or in the event an investigation would prove that injustice had not been done these gentlemen, that the good name of the citizens of these counties would be vindicated and the slanders thereby refuted.

Mr. Cunningham seconded the resolution:

In response to the resolutions, Mr. Speaker Dawson said:

Gentlemen of the House of Representatives:

The hour for the termination of your labors has come; and in behalf of the officers of the House and myself, I gratefully accept the flattering sentiments of the resolutions which you have been pleased to adopt, and return you their sincere acknowledgments. When I consider their full meaning and expression, I can only indulge the hope that they are deserved, and I tender you my warmest thanks.

To have impartially presided over your deliberations, was a duty to you, and an imperious one to myself, and I can truthfully say that I have honestly and earnestly endeavored to discharge this high and honorable office.

To have occupied the chair, so often filled by the courtly and distinguished statesmen whose names will go down the corridors of time, associated with the history of our noble State, is a distinction that might satisfy the ambition of any man.

I prize it above all other honors. With what measure of success I have discharged its duties must be left to your impartial judgment. Without your co-operation and assistance I could have accomplished nothing.

If sometimes, in the heat and hurry of debate and in the performance of the delicate and often-times unpleasant duties of the position, I have made mistakes and used words that have fallen harshly upon your ears, I must crave your indulgence, and ask and trust that you will attribute them to the excitement of the occasion, and that they may be forgotten and forgiven in this solemn hour of our separation.

Gentlemen, I have been gratified to observe and admire the knightly courtesy, the delicate kindness which has characterized your intercourse and your discussions upon this floor. And it affords me the greatest pleasure to testify to the earnest and assiduous manner in which you have devoted yourselves to the labor of legislation.

If you have not met all the expectations of the public, it will be remembered that many of the important questions that have had your attention and consideration were new, and in their character, experimental.

Time and experience will alone vindicate the wisdom of your measures, and we leave them to the candid judgment of our countrymen.

And now, in returning to your occupations, your fields and firesides, I feel that you have the right to the commendation of your constituents for the conscientious and honest manner in which you have discharged the business of the session.

Such approval is among the highest rewards that statesmen can expect or enjoy.

How delightful it is to win the prize in the race of usefulness, to bask in the warmth and light of well earned praise.

Thus feeling when, on the bridge of time, we are passing from the fleeting scenes of this fitful stage of action, we will feel, though no marble may mark our resting-place, that the aged will lament to lose us; that tears will sparkle on the cheeks of innocence, and the young will cast fresh flowers—bright immortelles—upon our graves.

Gentlemen, I bid you, one and all, farewell—a heartfelt farewell.

I now declare the House adjourned sine die.

N. H. R. DAWSON,
Speaker.

Attest:

ELLIS PHFLAN,

Clerk.
